Enthusiasm High As Scouters Plan to Hoist Finances

An enthusiastic group of more than 50 workers attended the "Kick-Off" dinner for the Arlington Heights finance campaign of the Northwest Suburban Council Boy Scouts of America at the North school last Monday evening at a meeting which was the finest of its kind which has ever been held in Arlington Heights.

Mr. N. G. Carlson, president of the school board, welcomed the group and paid tribute to the worthwhileness of the program which provides cubbing for the younger boys and scouting for boys 12 years and upwards.

The grade school band, under the leadership of Miss Betsy Gemberling entertained with a number of selections and C. L. Griffith led the group in singing.

Mr. Herman Baumann, past commander of the Merle Guild Post, The American Legion, general chairman of the finance campaign, presided and introduced the speakers of the evening. The invocation was given by the Reverend H. C. Fricke, pastor of the St. Peters Lutheran church.

In his message Scout Executive Donald E. Kyger emphasized the need for a larger number of scout troops in Arlington Heights in order to provide scout training for boys who wish to join. With the cub pack graduating more than 30 boys each year at least two additional troops are necessary to provide opportunities for boys to become scouts. He stated that the only problem was that of man power—men qualified to be leaders of boys who would serve for the benefit of the youth of Arlington Heights.

Mr. Robt. B. Leslie, council chairman of the finance committee, outlined the plan of the campaign and presented instruction to workers for their solicitation.

Chairman Herman Baumann emphasized particularly the need for seeing every prospect and the desirability of completing the campaign in the shortest possible time. He also expressed appreciation to the organizations who are cooperating in making this finance campaign a success and also to the school board and the North school for providing the facilities for the dinner meeting.

Soliciting teams from the following organizations are canvassing the city: The American Legion (sponsors of Troop 5), Jos. Wisersky, captain; Veteran of Foreign Wars, Rudolph Rizzi, captain; Scouters of Troop 7 parents committee, W. A. Miles, captain; Presbyterian Men's club, Irving Tesch, captain; Methodist Mens club, Jack Everett, captain; Holy Name Society, John Kindler, captain; Lutheran Laymen League, Gilbert Wilke, captain; Parent-Teachers Association, Mrs. J. M. Sommer, captain; Trade and Civic Association, Hugo Thal, captain; Scarsdale, Mr. J. M. Sommer, captain; Junior League, Miss Margaret Helwig, captain.

The entire campaign organization is sponsored by the Merle Guild Post, The American Legion, Paul Carroll, post commander. Great appreciation is due to them for their leadership in organizing the campaign.

Green Leads G. O. P. Ticket In Palatine And Wheeling Twp.

Northwest Cook county cast its old time majority for the Republican ticket Tuesday. Seventy-two per cent of all votes in the townships of Wheeling, Palatine, Elk Grove, Hanover and Schaumburg went to Willkie, leaving Roosevelt 27.5. Eight years ago the percentage was 55 to 44 and four years ago, it had risen to 63 for GOP nominee and 36.5 for Roosevelt.

Green was the surprise of Cook county, where he received nearly 10,000 more votes than did Hershey, the democratic candidate, while Willkie lost to Roosevelt by 150,000 votes.

Increase in population and the great interest in the present national election brought out the largest vote in the history of the northwest towns. Eight years ago a total of 6700 votes were cast for president in the five townships. In 1936, the total had risen to 7,200 votes and Tuesday it was 10,200.

A. F. Volz, committeeman of Wheeling township estimated that less than 250 persons on the registration list failed to vote. In some of the precincts, there were less than a dozen who failed to go to the polls.

The county clerk registration figures for Palatine township are 2647. The number voting was 2431. A similar condition is reported in the other townships.

In Maine township, Willkie received 9,871 votes against Roosevelt 4,127, while Green received 10,252 as against Hershey 2,833.

The only strong democratic precinct in Wheeling township is No. 11 which gave Willkie 127 and Roosevelt 129. The vote of the entire twelve precincts of the townships was nearly three to one. In Palatine it was two and a half to one. Elk Grove went Republican over three to one, while Schaumburg went nearly four to one.

Arlington Buys Street Truck; Radio Waits

"While there is life there is hope" and Arlington Heights police department is still hoping for action on the police radio. Alderman Schneberger calmly told the members of the village board Monday evening that they can expect him to bring up the radio question every meeting as long as he is a member of the board until some definite action is officially taken.

The board members again agreed to visit before the next regular meeting one or more of the other communities which have such equipment. Alderman Griffith asked for personal assurances from the other members that they would find time to investigate neighboring equipment.

Alderman Schneberger drew the attention of the board that it had purchased a new truck that evening without cash on hand to pay for it, while the money for the radio is waiting to be spent.

The bid of $2,184.93 for a Chevrolet truck from Arlington Chevrolet Co. was accepted by the board. As there is no available cash, a note payable within a year, will finance the purchase.

CITY WATER IS O. K.

The state health board, after testing samples of water from the Arlington Heights water mains, has found the water free from impurities, even if there is a presence of methane gas, which Supt. Luehring calls just air. It is harmless, says Mr. Gerber, of the chemical division of the University of Illinois. He has offered to come to Arlington Heights to test the deep well in an effort to eliminate the gas as well as increase the water supply, which has dropped about one-third the past year.

Advertisements for bids on the proposed well will be made as soon as the state board of health has approved the specifications for the well and it is expected that the contract can be let before the end of November.

"The development of the child is of vital interest to every parent," Mrs. Carroll pointed out. Victor Pecchia In Hospital For Needed Rest

Victor Pecchia, chairman of the district draft board, is recuperating in the Palatine hospital, where he will spend ten days resting up. There is nothing seriously wrong with Victor, and a short rest is expected to make him as fit as a fiddle.

More Fine Corn And It's Democratic

Henry C. Moehling has added some fine DeKalb corn to the exhibit in the window of E. P. Steinbrincks office in the First National Bank building, Palatine.

Mr. Conrad Moehling brought in the corn from his son's farm and told the boys that there was some corn that came from a farm which had been under the control of a democrat for 54 years.

The Moehling farm always produces some fine crops and Henry says that next year he is going to plant some of Wm. Bauman's Pioneer seed and see how it stacks up with his DeKalb.

C. E. Julian, not being a corn raiser, couldn't get into the contest, but he's been very interested in it and the other day he slipped an entry into the exhibit anyway when he set a big green apple raised on one of his trees that's nearly 50 years old, on top of the big corn.

The boys take a lot of fun in this good natured rivalry.

Harmonica Band To Be Organized

Byrd, the harmonica band has been inactive, but there are so many children who are anxious to participate in such an activity that Mrs. Byrd will again assume directorship. Those interested are asked to register at her home at 4 p. m. Friday, November 8.

The public is cordially invited to see the parade and attend the exercises at the flag pole, which will be short and interesting.

"At this critical time, with war all around us," says C. L. Griffith, past commander Merle Guild Post, "and the urgent need that our country be prepared to defend itself, the citizens of Arlington Heights should participate in such patriotic exercises."

Arlington Gridders Play 45th Ward Stars At Park Sunday

The Arlington Merchants offer a real buy—in the entertainment held this Sunday at Recreation park when they meet the Flecks of the 45th Ward in Chicago. Kick off at 2:30.

The Chicago team is overloaded with former high school stars. However, all this star dust from Chicago means nothing to the local lads as they are content to offer their opponents heel dust as they scamper down the field. That's the dust that makes pay dirt in this game.

Last Sunday the home talent defeated a strong Wheaton team 6 to 3. To give it a professional touch, Buffered of the Wheaton eleven booted a field goal in the 3rd quarter from the 23 yard line for the opponents only tally. Earlier in the game he missed one by inches from the 30 yard line. Arlington scored in the first minutes of play following the recovery of a Wheaton fumble. Mell Garms scored on a drive off tackle. The try for point was low.

Hugo Phillipi was the power behind the line on the Arlington team. He showed the boys how to tackle with a follow through that proved effective.

If you were never fortunate enough to see the undefeated Cardinal team of 1938, Co-champs of their conference, be on hand Sunday to see the line that paved the way perform for the Merchants. Led by Big Bill Langhorst these boys are again showing the way home.

Palatine's Lost Battalion Is Still Missing

The 212 draft registration cards of men in the village of Palatine are still on the missing list. They have been traced to the office of the county clerk and every effort to find them has been unavailing. Nobody seems to know what can be done.

The only enlightenment that has been received is the suggestion that some good Democrat assumed that as the cards came from Palatine, they probably contained the names of Republicans and were not worth saving.

Later Draft Registration Numbers

Draft board of Division one, at Arlington Heights has assigned the following numbers to recently received cards:

2490 Earl Corbett, Elgin.

World Champs Vs. Arlington Racers Tuesday

Harlem Globetrotters, winners of the pro-basketball title in Chicago last March, have given the Arlington Racers, Arlington's high scoring town team, the honor of being their first opponent for this season. The Racers will face the colored cage stars next Tuesday evening at the Arlington high school gymnasium beginning at 8:30 o'clock. Endeavoring to bring the most sensational basketball talent to Arlington, the Racers have picked the "cream of the crop" as a starter. Seats will be at a premium for the game as the Globetrotters have always drawn capacity audiences.

The local team is made up of Campbell, Rowbotham, Hertel, Hohmann, Kahling, Laeske, and Weisgerber.

Westmont was added to the Racer's list of victims Tuesday night as they finally succumbed 40-33 in a hard fought game.

Enthusiasm High As Scouters Plan to Hoist Finances

An enthusiastic group of more than 50 workers attended the "Kick-Off" dinner for the Arlington Heights finance campaign of the Northwest Suburban Council Boy Scouts of America at the North school last Monday evening at a meeting which was the finest of its kind which has ever been held in Arlington Heights.

Mr. N. G. Carlson, president of the school board, welcomed the group and paid tribute to the worthwhileness of the program which provides cubbing for the younger boys and scouting for boys 12 years and upwards.

The grade school band, under the leadership of Miss Betsy Gemberling entertained with a number of selections and C. L. Griffith led the group in singing.

Mr. Herman Baumann, past commander of the Merle Guild Post, The American Legion, general chairman of the finance campaign, presided and introduced the speakers of the evening. The invocation was given by the Reverend H. C. Fricke, pastor of the St. Peters Lutheran church.

In his message Scout Executive Donald E. Kyger emphasized the need for a larger number of scout troops in Arlington Heights in order to provide scout training for boys who wish to join. With the cub pack graduating more than 30 boys each year at least two additional troops are necessary to provide opportunities for boys to become scouts. He stated that the only problem was that of man power—men qualified to be leaders of boys who would serve for the benefit of the youth of Arlington Heights.

Mr. Robt. B. Leslie, council chairman of the finance committee, outlined the plan of the campaign and presented instruction to workers for their solicitation.

Chairman Herman Baumann emphasized particularly the need for seeing every prospect and the desirability of completing the campaign in the shortest possible time. He also expressed appreciation to the organizations who are cooperating in making this finance campaign a success and also to the school board and the North school for providing the facilities for the dinner meeting.

Soliciting teams from the following organizations are canvassing the city: The American Legion (sponsors of Troop 5), Jos. Wisersky, captain; Veteran of Foreign Wars, Rudolph Rizzi, captain; Scouters of Troop 7 parents committee, W. A. Miles, captain; Presbyterian Men's club, Irving Tesch, captain; Methodist Mens club, Jack Everett, captain; Holy Name Society, John Kindler, captain; Lutheran Laymen League, Gilbert Wilke, captain; Parent-Teachers Association, Mrs. J. M. Sommer, captain; Trade and Civic Association, Hugo Thal, captain; Scarsdale, Mr. J. M. Sommer, captain; Junior League, Miss Margaret Helwig, captain.

The entire campaign organization is sponsored by the Merle Guild Post, The American Legion, Paul Carroll, post commander. Great appreciation is due to them for their leadership in organizing the campaign.

Arlington Buys Street Truck; Radio Waits

"While there is life there is hope" and Arlington Heights police department is still hoping for action on the police radio. Alderman Schneberger calmly told the members of the village board Monday evening that they can expect him to bring up the radio question every meeting as long as he is a member of the board until some definite action is officially taken.

The board members again agreed to visit before the next regular meeting one or more of the other communities which have such equipment. Alderman Griffith asked for personal assurances from the other members that they would find time to investigate neighboring equipment.

Alderman Schneberger drew the attention of the board that it had purchased a new truck that evening without cash on hand to pay for it, while the money for the radio is waiting to be spent.

The bid of $2,184.93 for a Chevrolet truck from Arlington Chevrolet Co. was accepted by the board. As there is no available cash, a note payable within a year, will finance the purchase.

CITY WATER IS O. K.

The state health board, after testing samples of water from the Arlington Heights water mains, has found the water free from impurities, even if there is a presence of methane gas, which Supt. Luehring calls just air. It is harmless, says Mr. Gerber, of the chemical division of the University of Illinois. He has offered to come to Arlington Heights to test the deep well in an effort to eliminate the gas as well as increase the water supply, which has dropped about one-third the past year.

Advertisements for bids on the proposed well will be made as soon as the state board of health has approved the specifications for the well and it is expected that the contract can be let before the end of November.

TO INVITE KINGERY

Mr. Kingery, state authority on zoning matters will be invited to attend a meeting of the Board of Appeals Nov. 20, when he will be asked to explain the exact duties of the zoning board and make recommendations as to what process be followed by the zoning and appeal board in the revision of the present zoning ordinance. The village dads will sit-in on the meeting.

$4.00 AN HOUR TOO HIGH

Bill of a Chicago firm of $20 for labor, plus $3.20 as expenses was deferred because the board members believed that $4.00 an hour even for a meter checker was excessive. The clerk will offer $12.50.

Police department reported 35 arrests with a total of $123 in fines for vehicle tag violations.

Approximately $500 will be expended for gravel to be used in surfacing West Wing and Kennicott ave.

Children and Baby Clinics To Be Held Next Tuesday Afternoon

This month's infant conference will be held next Tuesday, at the Arlington Heights health center, Wing and Vail sts., from 1:00 to 3:00 p. m. Providing physical check-ups for babies who appear to be well, and advice on their care for their mothers, is the purpose of the conference held each month by the Arlington Heights health committee.

Mrs. Adele Pino, nurse of the Arlington Heights health center will assist at the conference and will call at the homes to assist the mothers in carrying out the doctors' instructions.

The last clinic of this year for children from two and five years old will be conducted by the Arlington Heights public health committee from 3:00 to 4:30 p. m. also next Tuesday at the health center in the village hall. Dr. F. E. Schon will have charge of the clinic on that day.

Mrs. Paul Carroll, chairman of the Arlington Heights public health committee, invites all parents to bring their children of this age for complete check-ups. Especially urged to attend are those who do not have a family physician available. Since the health center is financed by the annual sale of Christmas seals, no charge will be made for the examination.

The clinics for pre-school children are held three times a year, and offer a splendid opportunity for general physical examinations and complete health check-ups. "The development of the child is of vital interest to every parent," Mrs. Carroll pointed out. "In these clinics, the Arlington Heights public health council offers every parent an opportunity to check the development of his child. Finding health defects, suggesting corrective measures, checking immunizations, and giving guidance in rearing helathy children are all part of the clinic's services," Mrs. Carroll concluded.

Pays Election Bet; Gives Girl Friend Wheelbarrow Ridee

Harold Gieseke, Arlington Heights young man, paid his election bet to Miss Olga Wytrygus Wednesday evening amid the sounding of horns, red lights and to the applause of many of the Democratic and Republican friends of the young couple.

Harold was an ardent Willkie man. Olga believed in Roosevelt, who took a big chance when she agreed to give Harold a wheelbarrow ride along Higgins road to Arlington Heights road, a mile in length, if the Republican candidate was elected. She was the passenger at eight o'clock Wednesday evening.

Harold enjoyed the trip and reminded Olga several times that there was nothing in the bet that required him to keep the wheelbarrow right side up all of the time.

More Fine Corn And It's Democratic

Henry C. Moehling has added some fine DeKalb corn to the exhibit in the window of E. P. Steinbrincks office in the First National Bank building, Palatine.

Mr. Conrad Moehling brought in the corn from his son's farm and told the boys that there was some corn that came from a farm which had been under the control of a democrat for 54 years.

The Moehling farm always produces some fine crops and Henry says that next year he is going to plant some of Wm. Bauman's Pioneer seed and see how it stacks up with his DeKalb.

C. E. Julian, not being a corn raiser, couldn't get into the contest, but he's been very interested in it and the other day he slipped an entry into the exhibit anyway when he set a big green apple raised on one of his trees that's nearly 50 years old, on top of the big corn.

The boys take a lot of fun in this good natured rivalry.

Green Leads G. O. P. Ticket In Palatine And Wheeling Twp.

Northwest Cook county cast its old time majority for the Republican ticket Tuesday. Seventy-two per cent of all votes in the townships of Wheeling, Palatine, Elk Grove, Hanover and Schaumburg went to Willkie, leaving Roosevelt 27.5. Eight years ago the percentage was 55 to 44 and four years ago, it had risen to 63 for GOP nominee and 36.5 for Roosevelt.

Green was the surprise of Cook county, where he received nearly 10,000 more votes than did Hershey, the democratic candidate, while Willkie lost to Roosevelt by 150,000 votes.

Increase in population and the great interest in the present national election brought out the largest vote in the history of the northwest towns. Eight years ago a total of 6700 votes were cast for president in the five townships. In 1936, the total had risen to 7,200 votes and Tuesday it was 10,200.

A. F. Volz, committeeman of Wheeling township estimated that less than 250 persons on the registration list failed to vote. In some of the precincts, there were less than a dozen who failed to go to the polls.

The county clerk registration figures for Palatine township are 2647. The number voting was 2431. A similar condition is reported in the other townships.

In Maine township, Willkie received 9,871 votes against Roosevelt 4,127, while Green received 10,252 as against Hershey 2,833.

The only strong democratic precinct in Wheeling township is No. 11 which gave Willkie 127 and Roosevelt 129. The vote of the entire twelve precincts of the townships was nearly three to one. In Palatine it was two and a half to one. Elk Grove went Republican over three to one, while Schaumburg went nearly four to one.

Arlington Gridders Play 45th Ward Stars At Park Sunday

The Arlington Merchants offer a real buy—in the entertainment field this Sunday at Recreation park when they meet the Flecks of the 45th Ward in Chicago. Kick off at 2:30.

The Chicago team is overloaded with former high school stars. However, all this star dust from Chicago means nothing to the local lads as they are content to offer their opponents heel dust as they scamper down the field. That's the dust that makes pay dirt in this game.

Last Sunday the home talent defeated a strong Wheaton team 6 to 3. To give it a professional touch, Buffered of the Wheaton eleven booted a field goal in the 3rd quarter from the 23 yard line for the opponents only tally. Earlier in the game he missed one by inches from the 30 yard line. Arlington scored in the first minutes of play following the recovery of a Wheaton fumble. Mell Garms scored on a drive off tackle. The try for point was low.

Hugo Phillipi was the power behind the line on the Arlington team. He showed the boys how to tackle with a follow through that proved effective.

If you were never fortunate enough to see the undefeated Cardinal team of 1938, Co-champs of their conference, be on hand Sunday to see the line that paved the way perform for the Merchants. Led by Big Bill Langhorst these boys are again showing the way home.

Palatine's Lost Battalion Is Still Missing

The 212 draft registration cards of men in the village of Palatine are still on the missing list. They have been traced to the office of the county clerk and every effort to find them has been unavailing. Nobody seems to know what can be done.

The only enlightenment that has been received is the suggestion that some good Democrat assumed that as the cards came from Palatine, they probably contained the names of Republicans and were not worth saving.

Later Draft Registration Numbers

Draft board of Division one, at Arlington Heights has assigned the following numbers to recently received cards:

2490 Earl Corbett, Elgin.
2491 H. J. Wiswell, Mt. Prospect.
2492 William F. Thomas, Elgin.
2493 D. M. Byington, Ontarioville.

2495 Robert E. Mueller, Barrington
2496 L. J. Humbracht, Bartlett.
2497 Robert Meyer, Elgin.

2500 L. C. Ward, Arl. Hts.
2501 Major Minor, Barrington.
2502 J. A. Stein, Mt. Prospect.
2503 Charles W. Potter, Elgin.
2504 George A. Wulf, Jr., Elgin.

Joseph A. Stein, Mt. Prospect, is among the first 70 who will be called to service.

Irreligion is on the march: Nazism in Germany, Communism in Russia, Fascism in Italy. Insidious forces of godless socialism rotted the fibre of France and are now well intrenched in our own beloved United States. The horror of war and corruption of immorality and irreligion are the twin offspring of those who worship a government rather than God. And now our own government, using the taxpayer's money, is erecting communistic communities—one in Wisconsin, another in Ohio, and still another in Maryland—which are almost ready for occupancy. Everything — homes, stores, public buildings, theatres — everything necessary to a city has been supplied with the exception of churches. Our government does not believe that religious life and experience is of equal importance with running water, electricity, or moving pictures. Where do our executives receive encouragement for such inanity? From the people, of course, because the people of our nation are fast losing their moral integrity and religious fibre. How else shall we read the story of church attendance and support. Let's mobilize the church of God and hurl back these forces of doom and darkness that our Republic, for which we should be willing to die, shall live in the nobility and triumph of a new day under God.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 10.

The Golden Text was, "Unto thee will I cry, O Lord my rock. . . . Save thy people, and bless thine inheritance: feed them also, and lift them up for ever" (Psalms 28:1, 9).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And it came to pass about an eight days after these sayings, he took Peter and John and James, and went up into a mountain to pray. And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was altered, and his raiment was white and glistering. And, behold, there talked with him two men, which were Moses and Elias: And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him" (Luke 9:28-30, 35).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through discernment of the spiritual opposite of materiality, even the way through Christ, Truth, man will reopen with the key of divine Science the gates of Paradise which human beliefs have closed, and will find himself unfallen, upright, pure, and free, not needing to consult almanacs for the probabilities either of his life or of the weather, not needing to study brainology to learn how much of a man he is" (p. 171).

1941 Auto License Registration Blanks Now Available

Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes has begun the distribution of application blanks for 1941 automobile licenses. Blanks became available to the public this week from their city and county clerks, sheriffs, police stations, newspaper public service departments, motor clubs, and the state automobile departments in Springfield and Chicago. Thousands of filling stations and garages in the cities and along the state highways also will be supplied with the registration forms.

Secretary Hughes in releasing the applications called attention to the reassignment period which extends until December 1. Any motorist wishing to retain his present number for 1941 must apply prior to that date. All requests for reassignments will be filled until December 1, and then the open season on numbers begins.

Secretary Hughes also pointed out that the drivers licenses are not due for renewal. They are in force until May 1, 1942. This does not apply to chauffeurs licenses which are renewable January 1.

The legal deadline on automobile relicensing is January 1, 1941. Plates will be released early in December.

GROWING OLD? THEN SLOW UP
By C. W. Lussman
of Sieburg Pharmacy

As years increase there comes a natural feeling of disinclination to lose those pleasures of sport and play which combine exercise with fun. Besides people may say you are losing vim.

How ardent and vigorous may be indulgence in exercise as middle age approaches is for the doctor to say. A thorough check at more frequent intervals is the only safe course to take. The condition of the heart, how much you can stand without exhausting fatigue will be his criteria.

When medication is advised, select your druggist as carefully as you do your doctor.

Irreligion is on the march: Nazism in Germany, Communism in Russia, Fascism in Italy. Insidious forces of godless socialism rotted the fibre of France and are now well intrenched in our own beloved United States. The horror of war and corruption of immorality and irreligion are the twin offspring of those who worship a government rather than God. And now our own government, using the taxpayer's money, is erecting communistic communities—one in Wisconsin, another in Ohio, and still another in Maryland—which are almost ready for occupancy. Everything — homes, stores, public buildings, theatres — everything necessary to a city has been supplied with the exception of churches. Our government does not believe that religious life and experience is of equal importance with running water, electricity, or moving pictures. Where do our executives receive encouragement for such inanity? From the people, of course, because the people of our nation are fast losing their moral integrity and religious fibre. How else shall we read the story of church attendance and support. Let's mobilize the church of God and hurl back these forces of doom and darkness that our Republic, for which we should be willing to die, shall live in the nobility and triumph of a new day under God.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 10.

The Golden Text was, "Unto thee will I cry, O Lord my rock. . . . Save thy people, and bless thine inheritance: feed them also, and lift them up for ever" (Psalms 28:1, 9).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And it came to pass about an eight days after these sayings, he took Peter and John and James, and went up into a mountain to pray. And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was altered, and his raiment was white and glistering. And, behold, there talked with him two men, which were Moses and Elias: And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him" (Luke 9:28-30, 35).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through discernment of the spiritual opposite of materiality, even the way through Christ, Truth, man will reopen with the key of divine Science the gates of Paradise which human beliefs have closed, and will find himself unfallen, upright, pure, and free, not needing to consult almanacs for the probabilities either of his life or of the weather, not needing to study brainology to learn how much of a man he is" (p. 171).

1941 Auto License Registration Blanks Now Available

Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes has begun the distribution of application blanks for 1941 automobile licenses. Blanks became available to the public this week from their city and county clerks, sheriffs, police stations, newspaper public service departments, motor clubs, and the state automobile departments in Springfield and Chicago. Thousands of filling stations and garages in the cities and along the state highways also will be supplied with the registration forms.

Secretary Hughes in releasing the applications called attention to the reassignment period which extends until December 1. Any motorist wishing to retain his present number for 1941 must apply prior to that date. All requests for reassignments will be filled until December 1, and then the open season on numbers begins.

Secretary Hughes also pointed out that the drivers licenses are not due for renewal. They are in force until May 1, 1942. This does not apply to chauffeurs licenses which are renewable January 1.

The legal deadline on automobile relicensing is January 1, 1941. Plates will be released early in December.

GROWING OLD? THEN SLOW UP

By C. W. Lussman
of Sieburg Pharmacy

As years increase there comes a natural feeling of disinclination to lose those pleasures of sport and play which combine exercise with fun. Besides people may say you are losing vim.

How ardent and vigorous may be indulgence in exercise as middle age approaches is for the doctor to say. A thorough check at more frequent intervals is the only safe course to take. The condition of the heart, how much you can stand without exhausting fatigue will be his criteria.

When medication is advised, select your druggist as carefully as you do your doctor.

A Typical Halloween Party Of Last Week

Thirty-four Blue Birds, a part of the Camp Fire organization, gathered on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. F. Boss, who is in charge of the 4th grade Blue Birds on the North Side, to enjoy a gala Hallowe'en party.

Mrs. Joseph Shrader, who is leader of the 3rd grade North Blue Birds and Mrs. Boss had done an excellent job of transforming the recreation room into Hallowe'en land. Orange and black streamers across the ceiling, cornstalks, myriads of jack-o-lantern faces, witches, goblins, black owls and cats, arranged about the large room, with the windows covered with all colors of fall leaves, made a perfect setting for the small guests who arrived in Hallowe'en regalia. Old fashioned girls, clowns, fairies, nurses, ghosts and many other strange looking creatures gaily played the games which had been arranged by those in charge.

Large bowls of shining red apples, and bowls of white popcorn were arranged on the refreshment table, which was covered with a Hallowe'en cloth on which black cats and witches marched, and each guest was presented with a package of brightly wrapped candy as she left the party.

Since the Blue Birds, the junior organization of Camp Fire, were organized six weeks ago the eight and nine year old members in the community have thoroughly enjoyed the program of creative activities planned particularly to meet the interests and needs of these younger girls. In this short period of time the girls have already made scrapbooks, started leaf collections, hiked and cooked their lunches outdoors, made their own Hallowe'en masks and favors, learned several folk dances, songs and group games.

Under the direction of their leaders Blue Birds' activities are planned to develop in each child a sense of responsibility through a consistent program of work sharing and to make being a Blue Bird a happy experience for every member.

Public Service Sponsors Blue Flame Week

To Present Cooking Demonstration At Theaters November 15

Scheduled this year for the entire month of November, the fourth annual Blue Flame celebration is now on in Public Service stores, neighborhood gas appliance dealers and at master plumbers. An innovation in this year's Blue Flame activity is the "unfinished jingle" contest with prizes of gas refrigerator, gas range and gas clothes dryer to the winners.

M. H. Schreiber, district superintendent of the Public Service Company, this week announced special Blue Flame programs to be held Friday, November 15, at both the Catlow theatre in Barrington and the Arlington theatre in Arlington Heights.

"The purpose of this fourth Blue Flame exposition," said Mr. Schreiber, "is the same as in the past—to introduce 1941 gas ranges, refrigerators, ironers and water heaters to the people of Barrington, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Antioch, Wauconda and Palatine. Inaugurated in 1937, the celebration has since become an event anticipated by homemakers.

"We look for hundreds of entries in the 'unfinished jingle' contest offered this year as an added Blue Flame feature. Rules are simple—gas appliance dealers or Public Service gas stores can furnish entry blanks and details on the big contest.

"The cooking demonstrations arranged for the Arlington Theatre Friday morning at 10 o'clock will be presided over by Miss Rosalie Funk who will also be in charge of the afternoon program at the Catlow Theatre at 2 o'clock; both affairs will feature the latest in cooking methods and devices and copies of recipes used will be given those attending. Booklets containing other Blue Flame cooking and hot water recipe will be among the souvenirs available; children will receive balloons as gifts."

"In addition to these special events, feature demonstrations and displays will be going on all month at Public Service stores, neighborhood gas appliance dealers and master plumbers," Mr. Schreiber stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Armstrong were Sunday dinner guests of Colonel and Mrs. Joal Burney of Evanston.

David Heller was home from Knox College for homecoming and Howard was out from Chicago University.

The warm fall weather has kept the flowers blooming well past their usual season and Mrs. Berchtold reports violets blooming in her yard.

Mrs. M. H. Lawbaugh, who has spent the past two months at the home of her son and his family returned to Templeton, Iowa on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oris B. Cunningham and family and Miss K. J. Kealey spent the week-end in Indianapolis at the home of Mrs. Cunningham's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lamm spent the week-end in southern Illinois and Mr. Lamm found duck hunting a good sport with plenty of returns.

A Typical Halloween Party Of Last Week

Thirty-four Blue Birds, a part of the Camp Fire organization, gathered on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. F. Boss, who is in charge of the 4th grade Blue Birds on the North Side, to enjoy a gala Hallowe'en party.

Mrs. Joseph Shrader, who is leader of the 3rd grade North Blue Birds and Mrs. Boss had done an excellent job of transforming the recreation room into Hallowe'en land. Orange and black streamers across the ceiling, cornstalks, myriads of jack-o-lantern faces, witches, goblins, black owls and cats, arranged about the large room, with the windows covered with all colors of fall leaves, made a perfect setting for the small guests who arrived in Hallowe'en regalia. Old fashioned girls, clowns, fairies, nurses, ghosts and many other strange looking creatures gaily played the games which had been arranged by those in charge.

Large bowls of shining red apples, and bowls of white popcorn were arranged on the refreshment table, which was covered with a Hallowe'en cloth on which black cats and witches marched, and each guest was presented with a package of brightly wrapped candy as she left the party.

Since the Blue Birds, the junior organization of Camp Fire, were organized six weeks ago the eight and nine year old members in the community have thoroughly enjoyed the program of creative activities planned particularly to meet the interests and needs of these younger girls. In this short period of time the girls have already made scrapbooks, started leaf collections, hiked and cooked their lunches outdoors, made their own Hallowe'en masks and favors, learned several folk dances, songs and group games.

Under the direction of their leaders Blue Birds' activities are planned to develop in each child a sense of responsibility through a consistent program of work sharing and to make being a Blue Bird a happy experience for every member.

Public Service Sponsors Blue Flame Week

To Present Cooking Demonstration At Theaters November 15

Scheduled this year for the entire month of November, the fourth annual Blue Flame celebration is now on in Public Service stores, neighborhood gas appliance dealers and at master plumbers. An innovation in this year's Blue Flame activity is the "unfinished jingle" contest with prizes of gas refrigerator, gas range and gas clothes dryer to the winners.

M. H. Schreiber, district superintendent of the Public Service Company, this week announced special Blue Flame programs to be held Friday, November 15, at both the Catlow theatre in Barrington and the Arlington theatre in Arlington Heights.

"The purpose of this fourth Blue Flame exposition," said Mr. Schreiber, "is the same as in the past—to introduce 1941 gas ranges, refrigerators, ironers and water heaters to the people of Barrington, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Antioch, Wauconda and Palatine. Inaugurated in 1937, the celebration has since become an event anticipated by homemakers.

"We look for hundreds of entries in the 'unfinished jingle' contest offered this year as an added Blue Flame feature. Rules are simple—gas appliance dealers or Public Service gas stores can furnish entry blanks and details on the big contest.

"The cooking demonstrations arranged for the Arlington Theatre Friday morning at 10 o'clock will be presided over by Miss Rosalie Funk who will also be in charge of the afternoon program at the Catlow Theatre at 2 o'clock; both affairs will feature the latest in cooking methods and devices and copies of recipes used will be given those attending. Booklets containing other Blue Flame cooking and hot water recipe will be among the souvenirs available; children will receive balloons as gifts."

"In addition to these special events, feature demonstrations and displays will be going on all month at Public Service stores, neighborhood gas appliance dealers and master plumbers," Mr. Schreiber stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Armstrong were Sunday dinner guests of Colonel and Mrs. Joal Burney of Evanston.

David Heller was home from Knox College for homecoming and Howard was out from Chicago University.

The warm fall weather has kept the flowers blooming well past their usual season and Mrs. Berchtold reports violets blooming in her yard.

Mrs. M. H. Lawbaugh, who has spent the past two months at the home of her son and his family returned to Templeton, Iowa on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oris B. Cunningham and family and Miss K. J. Kealey spent the week-end in Indianapolis at the home of Mrs. Cuningham's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lamm spent the week-end in southern Illinois and Mr. Lamm found duck hunting a good sport with plenty of returns.

Marion Dreschel Is Married To Donald Meyer

Miss Marian Dreschel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dreschel became the bride of Donald Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meyer, in a pretty home wedding at the Meyer residence Saturday afternoon, November 2 at 4 p. m.

Rev. Kossack performed the ceremony before the immediate families of the bride and groom.

The bride was gowned in a street dress of blue velvet and wore a small velvet hat to match. Her flowers were white orchids. Alice Dreschel, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and was gowned in blue alpaca and wore a corsage of chrysanthemums. The bride's other attendant was Marva Meyer, sister of the groom, who wore a dress of beige crepe and a corsage of chrysanthemums. James Kellogg was best man for the groom and John Duerkop served as usher.

Chrysanthemums were used as decorations in the Meyer home and Juanita Meyer played the wedding march for the bridal pair.

Following the wedding service the parents of the bride entertained the bridal party and the immediate families at a turkey dinner at Glueckert's which was followed by a reception which many friends of the bride and groom attended. Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Both Marian and Donald are graduates of the local high school and Donald attended Bryan and Stratten business college in Chicago. The groom is employed by the National Credit Fuel Association of Chicago and the bride is employed at Rodewald's news agency.

The young couple will make their home in the Blase apartments.

The two choruses will present a program to Arlington Heights and the community, which will consist of soloists, ensemble, and organ members and will be appreciated by lovers of good music.

No admission will be charged but a silver offering will be taken to help defray the expense of the two organizations.

WALTHER LEAGUE

Northern Illinois District

News items for this department should be mailed not later than Monday to Arlene Nagel, publicity chairman, 804 N. Douglas St., Arlington Heights.

Exploring Elk Grove Woods

Last Sunday was another beautiful day for out-door activity, and approximtaely 50-60 Leaguers from different societies came out and enjoyed a hike thru the woods of Elk Grove. They all met in Arlington and drove down in cars; then they started out, first staying on the road and then later branching off through the paths and no-paths.

There were more scratched legs and torn stockings than were bargained for, but everyone was carefree so thought nothing of it. When they had made the tour they came back to the immense clearing and "monkeyed" around until it was dark enough for the bonfire, playing tug-of-war, jumping rope, and stood as spectators while Herb Ristow and Fred Ruthernbeck of Park Ridge performed their antics.

When the bonfire was made, everyone ate his fill of weiners and buns, but somehow or other, Al Remus of Arlington seemed to have the most marshmallows, while most campers went with one or two. Ruby Koehler, who had charge of the eats for Bensenville, brought a bag of what she thought was buns; but when everyone of her group was famished and ready to put their toasted wieners into buns, they opened the bag, and to their horror, found nothing but cookies. Tsk, tsk, Ruby, remember the old saying "Look before you leap," or should we say "bring a bag to a hike?"

When the eats had run out and everyone had had his full, they sat around, cozily, and sang, and sang, and sang. When they couldn't remember any more songs, and looked at their watches, it was only 6:15 so they went their separate ways.

"Extraverts" (right, Ken?) from Bensenville, Itasca, Roselle, St. Andrews, Park Ridge, and Arlington made up the group. Wonder where Norwood Park, Des Plaines, Barrington, Palatine, Schaumburg, Redeemer-Park Ridge, Niles, River Grove and Elmwood Park were.

A card from Ruby of Bensenville states, in part, "Tuesday evening, October 29, we had a Harvest and Homecoming party. Everyone had a grand time. The 'eats' committee did a very good job and the table decorations were especially pretty. More later." That probably means the society history for next week.

November 17 is a red-letter day on the calendars of our faithful Leaguers for on that date there will be a lecture at 8:00 p. m. in St. Andrew's school hall presented by Prof. Albert Maurer of Concordia College on "Behind the 8-Ball." This topic is especially interesting and appealing to young people as it deals with the youth problem, the causes of the cynicism so prevalent among the youth. Don't forget the date, November 17. The Cultural Activities chairmen of your Leagues will have more to offer later.

The treasurer of the Barrington League sent us the following as the history of their League. Emily Blume (treasurer) is the only present member who is a charter member.

St. Matthew Walther League was organized in March, 1933, with 19 members joining. On that evening they elected their first officers: Elsie Jahnholtz, president; Hilda Hintze, secretary; and Mildred Maicke, treasurer.

The first five years ran along very smoothly with the socials, business meetings, elections, roller-skating parties, etc. Then on June 28, 1938 the League celebrated its fifth anniversary with appropriate services and program. The Rev. Martin Elz of Chicago was the guest speaker.

Barrington has been host to the Northwest Suburban Zone for rallies on two occasions, April 26, 1936, and May 14, 1939.

In December of 1939 the League presented the congregation with a set of purple altar coverings.

They are proud, and justly so, of one of their members, the former Miss Gwendolyn Wolff, as she is more popularly known, or the present Mrs. Tommy Tucker, for she has won several major awards as the League's only Talent Quest entrant; among them was a gold medal for a water color painting entitled "Dawn." She also won a silver medal for another painting.

The League membership now totals 13, to most people, the unlucky number, but they are having a membership drive and hope to more than double that number. The present officers are: Herbert Gehrke, president; Eleanor Nightingale, vice-president; Arlene Hartwig, secretary; Emily W. Blume, treasurer, Helen Blume, Christian Service chairman and Eleanor Gehrke, Christian Knowledge chairman.

The meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month to which visitors are always welcome. A roller-skating party is being planned for November. For their Hallowe'en party, they enjoyed a scavenger hunt.

In closing Emily says, "With the coming of Christmas we wish to remind our Leaguers and fellow Lutherans that their cooperation is needed in the purchasing of Wheatridge seals and cards now on sale by the Leaguers."

Thanks so much, Emily, for your fine resume, and I'm sure we all feel much better acquainted with you Barringtonians.

Pillory in Holland

The pillory used in American colonial days still is effective in discouraging looting in invaded Holland. The news service Dienst Aus Deutschland reports that the device bears a sign which says: "While my countrymen are in need I loot their abandoned houses." Use of this punishment was revived as an emergency measure.

It Was Hallowe'en In Palatine

Moving buildings was one of the old time Hallowe'en tricks that dad occasionally boasts about, but dad never had a part in as big a job as the above where a fair sized barn is resting in the center of Palatine's chief business corner.

This "Hallowe'en" job was directed by the chief of police and the movers had gotten the structure this far when the news photographer arrived on the scene.

Bristles Down

When not in use, hair brushes should stand with the bristles down so as not to collect dust.

BANKING LOOKS AHEAD

E Pluribus Unum

The famous motto of the United States, "E Pluribus Unum," meaning "One unity composed of many parts," has taken on added meaning in recent years.

Today our geographical units, the states, are welded into a homogeneous, closely knit whole. But our various classes and groups have not yet achieved the unity essential to sustained progress.

Government, labor, farmers, business men, banks—all must work together, shoulder to shoulder, if our country is to forge ahead. This bank will do its part.

Exploring Elk Grove Woods

Last Sunday was another beautiful day for out-door activity, and approximtaely 50-60 Leaguers from different societies came out and enjoyed a hike thru the woods of Elk Grove. They all met in Arlington and drove down in cars; then they started out, first staying on the road and then later branching off through the paths and no-paths.

There were more scratched legs and torn stockings than were bargained for, but everyone was carefree so thought nothing of it. When they had made the tour they came back to the immense clearing and "monkeyed" around until it was dark enough for the bonfire, playing tug-of-war, jumping rope, and stood as spectators while Herb Ristow and Fred Ruthernbeck of Park Ridge performed their antics.

When the bonfire was made, everyone ate his fill of weiners and buns, but somehow or other, Al Remus of Arlington seemed to have the most marshmallows, while most campers went with one or two. Ruby Koehler, who had charge of the eats for Bensenville, brought a bag of what she thought was buns; but when everyone of her group was famished and ready to put their toasted wieners into buns, they opened the bag, and to their horror, found nothing but cookies. Tsk, tsk, Ruby, remember the old saying "Look before you leap," or should we say "bring a bag to a hike?"

When the eats had run out and everyone had had his full, they sat around, cozily, and sang, and sang, and sang. When they couldn't remember any more songs, and looked at their watches, it was only 6:15 so they went their separate ways.

"Extraverts" (right, Ken?) from Bensenville, Itasca, Roselle, St. Andrews, Park Ridge, and Arlington made up the group. Wonder where Norwood Park, Des Plaines, Barrington, Palatine, Schaumburg, Redeemer-Park Ridge, Niles, River Grove and Elmwood Park were.

A card from Ruby of Bensenville states, in part, "Tuesday evening, October 29, we had a Harvest and Homecoming party. Everyone had a grand time. The 'eats' committee did a very good job and the table decorations were especially pretty. More later." That probably means the society history for next week.

November 17 is a red-letter day on the calendars of our faithful Leaguers for on that date there will be a lecture at 8:00 p. m. in St. Andrew's school hall presented by Prof. Albert Maurer of Concordia College on "Behind the 8-Ball." This topic is especially interesting and appealing to young people as it deals with the youth problem, the causes of the cynicism so prevalent among the youth. Don't forget the date, November 17. The Cultural Activities chairmen of your Leagues will have more to offer later.

The treasurer of the Barrington League sent us the following as the history of their League. Emily Blume (treasurer) is the only present member who is a charter member.

St. Matthew Walther League was organized in March, 1933, with 19 members joining. On that evening they elected their first officers: Elsie Jahnholtz, president; Hilda Hintze, secretary; and Mildred Maicke, treasurer.

The first five years ran along very smoothly with the socials, business meetings, elections, roller-skating parties, etc. Then on June 28, 1938 the League celebrated its fifth anniversary with appropriate services and program. The Rev. Martin Elz of Chicago was the guest speaker.

Barrington has been host to the Northwest Suburban Zone for rallies on two occasions, April 26, 1936, and May 14, 1939.

In December of 1939 the League presented the congregation with a set of purple altar coverings.

They are proud, and justly so, of one of their members, the former Miss Gwendolyn Wolff, as she is more popularly known, or the present Mrs. Tommy Tucker, for she has won several major awards as the League's only Talent Quest entrant; among them was a gold medal for a water color painting entitled "Dawn." She also won a silver medal for another painting.

The League membership now totals 13, to most people, the unlucky number, but they are having a membership drive and hope to more than double that number. The present officers are: Herbert Gehrke, president; Eleanor Nightingale, vice-president; Arlene Hartwig, secretary; Emily W. Blume, treasurer, Helen Blume, Christian Service chairman and Eleanor Gehrke, Christian Knowledge chairman.

The meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month to which visitors are always welcome. A roller-skating party is being planned for November. For their Hallowe'en party, they enjoyed a scavenger hunt.

In closing Emily says, "With the coming of Christmas we wish to remind our Leaguers and fellow Lutherans that their cooperation is needed in the purchasing of Wheatridge seals and cards now on sale by the Leaguers."

Thanks so much, Emily, for your fine resume, and I'm sure we all feel much better acquainted with you Barringtonians.

Roasting Beef

Do not place any water in the roasting pan when roasting beef as water draws out the juices. Heat the oven to 500 degrees Fahrenheit. Place roast in an open pan fat side up, roast for 20 minutes until meat is browned, then reduce temperature to 300 degrees allowing 30 minutes for roasting each pound of beef.

A & P Food Stores Mark Eighty-first Birthday

How mass merchandising methods have widened the American diet by transforming luxury foods into inexpensive staples, is dramatized nationally this month by observance of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company's 81st anniversary.

The anniversary theme, "Pioneers for budgeteers—since 1859," was announced today by Mr. J. P. Smith, A&P vice president. "We take our greatest pride in the fact that our constant striving for efficiency and lower retail prices has made it possible for millions of American families to enjoy beverages, vegetables, fruits, meats, poultry, fish and dairy products that were once considered luxuries," he said.

"The history of our company is a record of a constantly wider variety of quality foods being offered to a greater number of consumers," Mr. Smith said. "As a matter of fact, when George Huntington Hartford founded the A&P in 1859 with the first store in New York, his first act was to take tea out of the luxury class and make it available to budgeteers in modest circumstances. At that time tea was selling for $1.00 a pound due to the fact that the purchasing agent in China, importer, speculator, wholesale tea dealer and wholesale grocer were all realizing their profit on every shipment of tea. By purchasing tea direct fom China and eliminating in-between costs, Mr. Hartford succeeded in reducing the retail price to 30c a pound."

Mr. Smith said that the public response to this new method of merchandising resulted in the opening of new stores and the introduction of additional foodstuffs. The new mass merchandising principles were applied to coffee and they were so effective that the A&P today operates its own plantations in Brazil, and imports, roasts and distributes one out of every seven pounds of coffee used by American consumers.

"In the next three decades our company gradually expanded their line from coffee, tea and spices to include other groceries, always with a view to bringing more foods to more consumers," Mr. Smith said. "By 1884 we were distributing sugar. By 1890 baking powder, butter and extracts had been added to our stock. Year by year we brought a constantly widening variety of foodstuffs to the American public.

"Probably our greatest contribution to a healthful American diet was the part we played in making fresh fruits and vegetables available the year round. It is not many years since the average home was limited to canned and dried fruits and vegetables during the fall and winter months. The quantity of fresh fruits and vegetables produced throughout the country now compared with that produced prior to our coming into this field shows a tremendous increase, particularly in the southern states whose produce is consumed during the fall and winter seasons.

"The A&P, in many instances, was the first to bring such produce to northern markets in carlots during the winter months. Further, our promotional activities along these lines have encouraged consumers to use fresh fruits and vegetables on a year-round basis and have benefitted both farmers and consumers.

"Broccoli, string beans, peas, lettuce, tomatoes, oranges, grapefruit, watermelon—these are just a few of the many fresh fruits and vegetables which were unheard of in northern winters some years back, but which even families in the most modest circumstances can enjoy today. Strawberries in January is a particularly dramatic example of this development and one for which we feel we are largely responsible. The per capita consumption of lettuce has increased 300 per cent in the last twenty years and nine times as many peas are eaten."

Recalling the days when an orange was seldom seen during winter months "except in the toe of a Christmas stocking," Mr. Smith said that mass merchandising has been particularly effective in increasing consumption of citrus fruits. In the past twenty years consumption of oranges has more than doubled, he said.

"Canned citrus fruits and juice are among the most recent additions to the daily American diet. We were the first distributors of canned grapefruit, and the effectiveness of our activities in offering this product at reasonable prices is indicated by the fact that canned citrus fruits and juice now rank among the first four or five items in points of volume and distribution in our entire canned food line."

Mr. Smith said that the benefits derived by both producers and consumers from mass merchandising were particularly evident with regard to poultry, which only in recent years has gone beyond its traditional role of a "holiday dinner." He pointed out that when A&P first started selling poultry, ducks were purchased by comparatively few families, but as a result of the company's cooperation with the Long Island Duck Producers, there is today an outstanding demand for this item. The company was the first to bring country fresh killed chickens to consumers in many markets and the result of this activity has not only been increased consumption of poultry and better returns to growers, but increased demand on the part of consumers for fresh killed fowl, he said.

"We feel that we are in no small way responsible for the improved grading and handling of fresh killed chickens," Mr. Smith said, "because of our insistence upon high standards of quality.

"About ten years ago turkeys sold only at Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays and butchers had to charge enormous prices. Immediately after the first of the year, turkeys went into cold storage for the next year. We began to feature turkeys all the year 'round at prices in line with other fowl, and as a result more and more families are eating turkeys and the producers have benefited greatly. Americans ate 26,000,000 turkeys in 1938 as against 17,000,000 in 1929. Year 'round distribution has enabled the farmers to improve the eating quality of turkeys by converting the industry from a barnyard production basis to a specialized branch of agriculture."

The same insistence upon quality purchasing and low-cost mass distribution has characterized the company's activities since it began to distribute meat, Mr. Smith said. He cited as a particular contribution the effective way in which the A&P increased consumption of sliced bacon by bringing it down from the luxury class.

"I recall that when we first started to distribute fish through our stores, the great majority of Americans had to go to the seacoast in order to enjoy sea food. Taking advantage of modern transportation and refrigeration, mass distributors expedited inland distribution of fish, with the result that today, fresh fish is available to families hundreds of miles from the coast. Not only has the consumption of fish been increased, but we have widened the variety of fish appearing on the typical American dinner table. Before we promoted the sale of swordfish it was practically unknown in many sections because its high prices placed it definitely in the luxury class."

Mr. Smith said that the nation's mass distributors had performed yeoman service in distributing dairy products. He pointed out that the A&P maintains a force of expert butter makers who constantly visit creameries, and that the company also maintains a small creamery for experimental purposes. These activities have been influential in elevating the quality standards for butter thruout the United States, the A&P alone distributing approximately 175,000,000 pounds of the highest grades of buttter annually.

Similarly, he said, the company's cheese department has constantly recommended and promoted the sale of "cured" cheese, and that in the operation of its own refrigerated cheese warehouses it has been able to buy and cure its own cheese, thereby making a uniform quality available the year 'round. As a result, the company handles a larger volume of the finest quality "cured" cheese than any other dealer or distributor in the United States—its total sales of bulk Cheddar and processed cheese amounting to more than 50,000,000 pounds a year.

"The same emphasis upon superior quality, lower cost and wider distribution has characterized the company's activities in the canned goods field," Mr. Smith said. "Packing methods have admittedly improved appreciably in recent years and the company has pioneered grade labeling of canned fruits and vegetables, as advocated by the United States Department of Agriculture, for years. The A&P, with the interest of the consumer in mind, was the first large concern to adopt this system as a policy and its activity along these lines has the endorsement of all leading consumer groups, as well as the government."

All this wider distribution of quality foods is a direct result of the company's policy of reducing the price spread between producer and consumer, Mr. Smith emphasized. A major factor in the elimination of in-between costs was A&P's introduction in 1912 of the "economy store," which dispensed with delivery, premiums, telephone orders and other expense producing items which raised costs to consumers, Mr. Smith said. More recently, he explained, the food chain has been a leader in devolopment of the modern "super-market," which features self-service and has already proved itself as a major contribution to the nation's retail economy.

Mr. Smith stated: "We believe we have proved that efficient distribution gives the consumer more for each dollar spent. We have worked to this end so that in the past five years we have reduced our retail distribution expense by more than 20 per cent."

In conclusion, Mr. Smith declared that "our organization, by working to provide quality food for Americans at the lowest prices compatible with fair returns to producers and wage-earners, has been able to provide a continuing supply of nearly every old-time luxury at low prices. We are confident that the future will bring still further advances in the work we are doing."

Dr. Walter A. Maier Urges Citizenry To Help Nation's Progress

Declaring that the election on Tuesday requires the vote of all American church-goers, Dr. Walter A. Maier of Concordia Seminary, in his weekly coast-to-coast Lutheran Hour broadcast over 130 stations of the Mutual Broadcasting System, declared that "every ballot should be cast with serious forethought and personal prayer. The man whom the voters of America elect to guide this nation's affairs for the next four years must face problems and responsibilities at least as complicated and as critical as the conflicts that confronted Washington and Lincoln and in this emergency we need a 100 per cent vote of the Christian citizenry. If church members neglect to cast their ballots whom but themselves can they blame if the sudden collapse of representative government that has engulfed almost all the rest of the world is felt in our own country?"

Dr. Maier acknowledged that many Christians keep their distance from the polls because they are disgusted with the corrupt practice of certain politicians, but he asked his audience, as church members, to overcome this antipathy and conscientiously to use the ballot in following the scriptural direction to seek the peace and progress of the nation. Disowning all attempts to organize a church party, the radio speaker pleaded for a larger and more determined participation and willingness of Christian citizens to enter political life and assume public office.

The purpose of Dr. Maier's message, however, was to emphasize that every American, not only the 60,000,000 qualified voters, is constantly confronted with the necessity of making a spiritual choice of far greater consequence than is involved in Tuesday's election—the acceptance or rejection of Christ. "More than one of every two Americans," he asserted, "has refused to acknowledge Christ, and by their unbelief these millions have become active or passive enemies of the church. A religious awakening across the American continent that would return the churches to the purpose of their charter, the preaching of the gospel to bring the disinterested masses to Christ could produce the greatest national blessing of peace and prosperity America has ever known."

Kindness Pays

The great Boston humanitarian, G. T. Angell, started his monthly magazine devoted to kindness toward animals with a circulation of 200,000 for its first edition—and it hasn't missed a single month's publication in the 70 years that have ensued.

Roasting Beef

Do not place any water in the roasting pan when roasting beef as water draws out the juices. Heat the oven to 500 degrees Fahrenheit. Place roast in an open pan fat side up, roast for 20 minutes until meat is browned, then reduce temperature to 300 degrees allowing 30 minutes for roasting each pound of beef.

Modern musical farce comedy is played against ancient Greek backgrounds in the film version of "The Boys from Syracuse." Featured celebrities in the cast include (L to R) Charles Butterworth, Martha Raye, Allan Jones, Irene Hervey, Joe Penner, Rosemary Lane and Alan Mowbray. Second feature "They Drive By Night" starring Geo. Raft, Ann Sheridan, Humphrey Bogart and Ida Lupino starting Sunday Matinee through Wednesday at the Palatine Theatre.

A & P Food Stores Mark Eighty-first Birthday

How mass merchandising methods have widened the American diet by transforming luxury foods into inexpensive staples, is dramatized nationally this month by observance of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company's 81st anniversary.

The anniversary theme, "Pioneers for budgeteers—since 1859," was announced today by Mr. J. P. Smith, A&P vice president. "We take our greatest pride in the fact that our constant striving for efficiency and lower retail prices has made it possible for millions of American families to enjoy beverages, vegetables, fruits, meats, poultry, fish and dairy products that were once considered luxuries," he said.

"The history of our company is a record of a constantly wider variety of quality foods being offered to a greater number of consumers," Mr. Smith said. "As a matter of fact, when George Huntington Hartford founded the A&P in 1859 with the first store in New York, his first act was to take tea out of the luxury class and make it available to budgeteers in modest circumstances. At that time tea was selling for $1.00 a pound due to the fact that the purchasing agent in China, importer, speculator, wholesale tea dealer and wholesale grocer were all realizing their profit on every shipment of tea. By purchasing tea direct fom China and eliminating in-between costs, Mr. Hartford succeeded in reducing the retail price to 30c a pound."

Mr. Smith said that the public response to this new method of merchandising resulted in the opening of new stores and the introduction of additional foodstuffs. The new mass merchandising principles were applied to coffee and they were so effective that the A&P today operates its own plantations in Brazil, and imports, roasts and distributes one out of every seven pounds of coffee used by American consumers.

"In the next three decades our company gradually expanded their line from coffee, tea and spices to include other groceries, always with a view to bringing more foods to more consumers," Mr. Smith said. "By 1884 we were distributing sugar. By 1890 baking powder, butter and extracts had been added to our stock. Year by year we brought a constantly widening variety of foodstuffs to the American public.

"Probably our greatest contribution to a healthful American diet was the part we played in making fresh fruits and vegetables available the year round. It is not many years since the average home was limited to canned and dried fruits and vegetables during the fall and winter months. The quantity of fresh fruits and vegetables produced throughout the country now compared with that produced prior to our coming into this field shows a tremendous increase, particularly in the southern states whose produce is consumed during the fall and winter seasons.

"The A&P, in many instances, was the first to bring such produce to northern markets in carlots during the winter months. Further, our promotional activities along these lines have encouraged consumers to use fresh fruits and vegetables on a year-round basis and have benefitted both farmers and consumers.

"Broccoli, string beans, peas, lettuce, tomatoes, oranges, grapefruit, watermelon—these are just a few of the many fresh fruits and vegetables which were unheard of in northern winters some years back, but which even families in the most modest circumstances can enjoy today. Strawberries in January is a particularly dramatic example of this development and one for which we feel we are largely responsible. The per capita consumption of lettuce has increased 300 per cent in the last twenty years and nine times as many peas are eaten."

Recalling the days when an orange was seldom seen during winter months "except in the toe of a Christmas stocking," Mr. Smith said that mass merchandising has been particularly effective in increasing consumption of citrus fruits. In the past twenty years consumption of oranges has more than doubled, he said.

"Canned citrus fruits and juice are among the most recent additions to the daily American diet. We were the first distributors of canned grapefruit, and the effectiveness of our activities in offering this product at reasonable prices is indicated by the fact that canned citrus fruits and juice now rank among the first four or five items in points of volume and distribution in our entire canned food line."

Mr. Smith said that the benefits derived by both producers and consumers from mass merchandising were particularly evident with regard to poultry, which only in recent years has gone beyond its traditional role of a "holiday dinner." He pointed out that when A&P first started selling poultry, ducks were purchased by comparatively few families, but as a result of the company's cooperation with the Long Island Duck Producers, there is today an outstanding demand for this item. The company was the first to bring country fresh killed chickens to consumers in many markets and the result of this activity has not only been increased consumption of poultry and better returns to growers, but increased demand on the part of consumers for fresh killed fowl, he said.

"We feel that we are in no small way responsible for the improved grading and handling of fresh killed chickens," Mr. Smith said, "because of our insistence upon high standards of quality.

"About ten years ago turkeys sold only at Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays and butchers had to charge enormous prices. Immediately after the first of the year, turkeys went into cold storage for the next year. We began to feature turkeys all the year 'round at prices in line with other fowl, and as a result more and more families are eating turkeys and the producers have benefited greatly. Americans ate 26,000,000 turkeys in 1938 as against 17,000,000 in 1929. Year 'round distribution has enabled the farmers to improve the eating quality of turkeys by converting the industry from a barnyard production basis to a specialized branch of agriculture."

The same insistence upon quality purchasing and low-cost mass distribution has characterized the company's activities since it began to distribute meat, Mr. Smith said. He cited as a particular contribution the effective way in which the A&P increased consumption of sliced bacon by bringing it down from the luxury class.

"I recall that when we first started to distribute fish through our stores, the great majority of Americans had to go to the seacoast in order to enjoy sea food. Taking advantage of modern transportation and refrigeration, mass distributors expedited inland distribution of fish, with the result that today, fresh fish is available to families hundreds of miles from the coast. Not only has the consumption of fish been increased, but we have widened the variety of fish appearing on the typical American dinner table. Before we promoted the sale of swordfish it was practically unknown in many sections because its high prices placed it definitely in the luxury class."

Mr. Smith said that the nation's mass distributors had performed yeoman service in distributing dairy products. He pointed out that the A&P maintains a force of expert butter makers who constantly visit creameries, and that the company also maintains a small creamery for experimental purposes. These activities have been influential in elevating the quality standards for butter thruout the United States, the A&P alone distributing approximately 175,000,000 pounds of the highest grades of buttter annually.

Similarly, he said, the company's cheese department has constantly recommended and promoted the sale of "cured" cheese, and that in the operation of its own refrigerated cheese warehouses it has been able to buy and cure its own cheese, thereby making a uniform quality available the year 'round. As a result, the company handles a larger volume of the finest quality "cured" cheese than any other dealer or distributor in the United States—its total sales of bulk Cheddar and processed cheese amounting to more than 50,000,000 pounds a year.

"The same emphasis upon superior quality, lower cost and wider distribution has characterized the company's activities in the canned goods field," Mr. Smith said. "Packing methods have admittedly improved appreciably in recent years and the company has pioneered grade labeling of canned fruits and vegetables, as advocated by the United States Department of Agriculture, for years. The A&P, with the interest of the consumer in mind, was the first large concern to adopt this system as a policy and its activity along these lines has the endorsement of all leading consumer groups, as well as the government."

All this wider distribution of quality foods is a direct result of the company's policy of reducing the price spread between producer and consumer, Mr. Smith emphasized. A major factor in the elimination of in-between costs was A&P's introduction in 1912 of the "economy store," which dispensed with delivery, premiums, telephone orders and other expense producing items which raised costs to consumers, Mr. Smith said. More recently, he explained, the food chain has been a leader in devolopment of the modern "super-market," which features self-service and has already proved itself as a major contribution to the nation's retail economy.

Mr. Smith stated: "We believe we have proved that efficient distribution gives the consumer more for each dollar spent. We have worked to this end so that in the past five years we have reduced our retail distribution expense by more than 20 per cent."

In conclusion, Mr. Smith declared that "our organization, by working to provide quality food for Americans at the lowest prices compatible with fair returns to producers and wage-earners, has been able to provide a continuing supply of nearly every old-time luxury at low prices. We are confident that the future will bring still further advances in the work we are doing."

Dr. Walter A. Maier Urges Citizenry To Help Nation's Progress

Declaring that the election on Tuesday requires the vote of all American church-goers, Dr. Walter A. Maier of Concordia Seminary, in his weekly coast-to-coast Lutheran Hour broadcast over 130 stations of the Mutual Broadcasting System, declared that "every ballot should be cast with serious forethought and personal prayer. The man whom the voters of America elect to guide this nation's affairs for the next four years must face problems and responsibilities at least as complicated and as critical as the conflicts that confronted Washington and Lincoln and in this emergency we need a 100 per cent vote of the Christian citizenry. If church members neglect to cast their ballots whom but themselves can they blame if the sudden collapse of representative government that has engulfed almost all the rest of the world is felt in our own country?"

Dr. Maier acknowledged that many Christians keep their distance from the polls because they are disgusted with the corrupt practice of certain politicians, but he asked his audience, as church members, to overcome this antipathy and conscientiously to use the ballot in following the scriptural direction to seek the peace and progress of the nation. Disowning all attempts to organize a church party, the radio speaker pleaded for a larger and more determined participation and willingness of Christian citizens to enter political life and assume public office.

The purpose of Dr. Maier's message, however, was to emphasize that every American, not only the 60,000,000 qualified voters, is constantly confronted with the necessity of making a spiritual choice of far greater consequence than is involved in Tuesday's election—the acceptance or rejection of Christ. "More than one of every two Americans," he asserted, "has refused to acknowledge Christ, and by their unbelief these millions have become active or passive enemies of the church. A religious awakening across the American continent that would return the churches to the purpose of their charter, the preaching of the gospel to bring the disinterested masses to Christ could produce the greatest national blessing of peace and prosperity America has ever known."

Hallowe'en has come and gone since our last column, and with it many lovely parties given in the neighborhood, but we still have our memories and one in particular has left a very happy impression and that was the Hallowe'en party given by the P.-T.A. for the children of the Wheeling Center school. Not only will the children recall the fun of the Hayrack party or the weenie roast or the hilarious games and delicious refreshments, but the committee will enjoy reminiscing the fun planning the affair, and watching those happy youngsters really enjoying Hallowe'en as it should be enjoyed. The co-operation of the Merchants, Messrs. Smith & Dawson, the children who decorated the basement, Mrs. A. Rateike, and the committee, and all who did their part to make this a memorable occasion the success it was, has Mrs. Roy A. Hartke's thanks. The parents can be very proud of the children of this community, their behavior was perfect and they are little ladies and gentlemen as they kept their word and did not do any damage, not even a soaped window was reported, so the efforts of all who did their parts were well rewarded.

Another Hallowe'en party held at the school was given on Hallowe'en night by the Young Peoples club of the community. This club consists of the young folks from 13 to 25 and needless to say they had a grand time at their party. Wilbur Rodgers was in charge of the arrangements and from all reports everything went off as planned.

Congratulations to little Miss Ayers, who celebrated her first birthday November 6. She is the adorable little daughter of Sergeant and Mrs. Alvin Ayers of Clarendon st.

Birthday congratulations are in order for master Bruce Spillar who celebrated his second birthday on Monday, but friends and relatives of Berwyn paid homage to the birthday child on Saturday evening, when a host of guests descended on the Spillar manse loaded with gifts for the little fellow.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Jerome Moeller has recovered from her recent illness, and that at present she and little Jerry are visiting her mother in McHenry, Illinois.

Mrs. W. F. Abbs is doing nicely at the Columbus Memorial hospital in Chicago, and it should not be so very long before she will again be in her own home on McDonald rd.

The Frank Snells and daughters Sarah and Susan were dinner guests at the home of the Jos. Orose on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Neagles have been entertaining Lorene's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bowman, formerly of Jacksonville, Ill., since last Thursday. The folks left Tuesday for Detroit, Mich., where they will make their new home. Sunday afternoon the Neagles entertained the Thayer Batts of Chicago.

Thursday, Mrs. Chas. Ledyard entertained Mesdames Miller, Foxworthy and Robertson at dessert lunch and pinochle.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Niemeyer visited a number of their friends in Prospect Heights and it was nice to hear that "Bill" will soon go into business for himself very soon, somewhere in the neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schekko Jr., brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Dan Robertson visited the folks on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Foxworthy were guests at the home of Mrs. Foxworthy's aunt, Mrs. H. Bucholz, on Saturday evening.

Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Foxworthy entertained Mr. and Mrs. W. Holzkoph and Mr. and Mrs. L. Parker of Chicago.

Prospect Heights is going to have some additional stores next spring. The policy of Smith & Dawson is to make that community self sustaining in a business sense. Store and business leases require the owners to expand with the growth of the new community. In turn, Smith & Dawson feel that they are under obligation to provide the business blocks that are needed for the expansion.

Two wings of five stores each will be added to the present business block early next spring. Inquiries for business locations in Prospect Heights are many, but leases are only given to a select few. Among the new businesses that will make their bow to Prospect Heights next spring are a drug store, restaurant, bakery and a general merchandise store.

Two New Homes a Week

The present building schedule requires the completion of two new homes a week the balance of the winter, and that schedule must be speeded up if sales continue at present pace. Contracts were entered into over the week-end for seven new homes, which if continued would mean a new house must spring up every day. During October basements were started on fourteen homes.

May first is the delivery date for 32 homes that have already been sold. Anticipating additional sales a total of sixty houses are in the making. A second full time architect will be at work in the local office of Smith & Dawson Monday morning.

Prospect Heights is growing so fast that residents of neighboring communities are meeting new surprises every time they visit that community. It has become the most populous election precinct in Wheeling township, polling over 600 votes last Tuesday, two hundred more than the average for the entire township.

Mrs. Dickey, president of the Northwest Council of Parent-Teachers Associations will be the guest speaker, and, of course, her topics are of interest to all and really worthwhile so we are happy to have the opportunity of having her with us particularly on Men's night as the men of the association are not only interested in P.-T.A. work, but the welfare of the children of the community. Hallowe'en has come and gone since our last column, and with it many lovely parties given in the neighborhood, but we still have our memories and one in particular has left a very happy impression and that was the Hallowe'en party given by the P.-T.A. for the children of the Wheeling Center school. Not only will the children recall the fun of the Hayrack party or the weenie roast or the hilarious games and delicious refreshments, but the committee will enjoy reminiscing the fun planning the affair, and watching those happy youngsters really enjoying Hallowe'en as it should be enjoyed. The co-operation of the Merchants, Messrs. Smith & Dawson, the children who decorated the basement, Mrs. A. Rateike, and the committee, and all who did their part to make this a memorable occasion the success it was, has Mrs. Roy A. Hartke's thanks. The parents can be very proud of the children of this community, their behavior was perfect and they are little ladies and gentlemen as they kept their word and did not do any damage, not even a soaped window was reported, so the efforts of all who did their parts were well rewarded.

Another Hallowe'en party held at the school was given on Hallowe'en night by the Young Peoples club of the community. This club consists of the young folks from 13 to 25 and needless to say they had a grand time at their party. Wilbur Rodgers was in charge of the arrangements and from all reports everything went off as planned.

Congratulations to little Miss Ayers, who celebrated her first birthday November 6. She is the adorable little daughter of Sergeant and Mrs. Alvin Ayers of Clarendon st.

Birthday congratulations are in order for master Bruce Spillar who celebrated his second birthday on Monday, but friends and relatives of Berwyn paid homage to the birthday child on Saturday evening, when a host of guests descended on the Spillar manse loaded with gifts for the little fellow.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Jerome Moeller has recovered from her recent illness, and that at present she and little Jerry are visiting her mother in McHenry, Illinois.

Mrs. W. F. Abbs is doing nicely at the Columbus Memorial hospital in Chicago, and it should not be so very long before she will again be in her own home on McDonald rd.

The Frank Snells and daughters Sarah and Susan were dinner guests at the home of the Jos. Orose on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Neagles have been entertaining Lorene's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bowman, formerly of Jacksonville, Ill., since last Thursday. The folks left Tuesday for Detroit, Mich., where they will make their new home. Sunday afternoon the Neagles entertained the Thayer Batts of Chicago.

Thursday, Mrs. Chas. Ledyard entertained Mesdames Miller, Foxworthy and Robertson at dessert lunch and pinochle.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Niemeyer visited a number of their friends in Prospect Heights and it was nice to hear that "Bill" will soon go into business for himself very soon, somewhere in the neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schekko Jr., brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Dan Robertson visited the folks on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Foxworthy were guests at the home of Mrs. Foxworthy's aunt, Mrs. H. Bucholz, on Saturday evening.

Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Foxworthy entertained Mr. and Mrs. W. Holzkoph and Mr. and Mrs. L. Parker of Chicago.

Prospect Heights is going to have some additional stores next spring. The policy of Smith & Dawson is to make that community self sustaining in a business sense. Store and business leases require the owners to expand with the growth of the new community. In turn, Smith & Dawson feel that they are under obligation to provide the business blocks that are needed for the expansion.

Two wings of five stores each will be added to the present business block early next spring. Inquiries for business locations in Prospect Heights are many, but leases are only given to a select few. Among the new businesses that will make their bow to Prospect Heights next spring are a drug store, restaurant, bakery and a general merchandise store.

Two New Homes a Week

The present building schedule requires the completion of two new homes a week the balance of the winter, and that schedule must be speeded up if sales continue at present pace. Contracts were entered into over the week-end for seven new homes, which if continued would mean a new house must spring up every day. During October basements were started on fourteen homes.

May first is the delivery date for 32 homes that have already been sold. Anticipating additional sales a total of sixty houses are in the making. A second full time architect will be at work in the local office of Smith & Dawson Monday morning.

Prospect Heights is growing so fast that residents of neighboring communities are meeting new surprises every time they visit that community. It has become the most populous election precinct in Wheeling township, polling over 600 votes last Tuesday, two hundred more than the average for the entire township.

Defective Flues A Major Cause Of Farm Fires

Using Kerosene To Hasten Fire Dangerous Risk

There's a fifth columnist lurking in every farm home now that winter is approaching. It lies harmless until some cold morning a farmer pours it onto wood or coal to hasten the fire or until some afternoon when a homemaker adds a little to the dying embers in her stove so she can prepare supper in a hurry. Then kerosene can turn into a demon, says Miss Gladys Ward, home management specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

More than 1,600 women died last year as a result of severe burns or accidents at home, said Miss Ward. Of this number some 350 deaths resulted from the use of flammable liquids for kindling fires, for dry cleaning and other purposes. It included some 150 women who lost their lives because their clothing caught fire from hot stoves or open fires. All one woman did was to use her apron for a pot holder to remove a pan from her stove and in doing so set her apron ablaze.

Sometimes illness or old age infirmity causes an accident which unfortunately could not be forseen, said Miss Ward. However, the use of kerosene or any other flammable liquid to start a fire is a dangerous risk. Of the total number of fatal burns, 20 per cent were caused by explosions or spreading flames arising from the use of such liquids.

Plodding sturdily in the night, through slush and drift or mud and storm, the Pilgrim chimney viewer called the hour and that "all is well" in the early winters of the Plymouth colony. Chimneys then built of small green sapling limbs and plastered over with clay or mud were constant fire hazards. The colonies knew the danger and sought security by having one of their members make the rounds hourly to give the alarm in case an overheated chimney ignited and threatened the cabin and its occupants. If we could go back the 300 odd years to that Massachusetts Bay Colony, we would see the crude hogshead, filled with water, and the handmade wooden pails on the village green, belonging to our first volunteer fire department in America.

Three centuries have passed, and with the importation of bricks and their use in chimney construction we have grown forgetful and careless with the passing years. The hazard still remains, although much reduced.

Back in 1871, O'Leary's cow, in her rebellious mood, started a great fire. Other big fires have been started just as innocently. Matches and mice or children, faulty wiring, keroene quenched coals or kindling, overheated stoves, lightning and sparks have been accused and often found guilty of starting fires. Defective flues are frequent offenders. Like the dawn they steal upon us in the night and start their destruction. Unknown and unseen, they lurk and attack at a time when we are least prepared and suspecting.

Farm fires take 3,500 lives in the United Sttes each year, and about 100 in our own commonwealth. In addition they take material things . . . .homes, barns, equipment and stored crops amounting to an estimated $100,000,000 annually. . . . .a tidy sum and a great national economic waste.

How may we reduce this waste? We must be alert and organized like the chimney viewer and chimney sweeper at Plymouth in 1630. It would be folly to watch the flue and wait for a fire rather than make a frequent inspection and the needed repairs.

As winter approaches, all of us should remember the hazards in the flues of the house heating plant or kitchen range. It would be well to inspect and repair the flue before we fire up the furnace. It may save a life. . . your own, or some loved one. . . from the horrible death from burns. Only a year ago in a short radio talk, the writer warned about taking chances with flues and reviving smoldering fires with kerosene; within a fortnight two homemakers and mothers in Champaign County died as a result of such hazard.

Dried Bait For Rats Being Tried

The Cook County Farm Bureau has had two campaigns using prepared refrigerated baits put out by the U. S. D. A. Biological Survey. Realizing an inconvenience was caused by using these prepared baits under refrigeration another plan has been worked out to use dry bait. Red squill, which was used in the prepared bait under refrigeration, is being used as the same poisoning agency. However, it is felt that if this plan will work, it will not necessitate farmers getting their bait on a certain day and putting it out at a certain time and probably making a trip to headquarters to get the bait.

Arrangements have been completed with the Lake-Cook Farm Supply Company to handle this dry bait in their stores in Cook County. The bait is just as cheap, or perhaps a little cheaper, and it is our belief that rats will take it about as well as or better than they did the prepared bait. Farmers who are interested in baiting their rats in the fall when they begin to come from exposed places might do well to try this bait. We have one report from Bureau County where this plan was used and the farm adviser reports that to date he has had no complaints from the use of this dry bait. Therefore, we are advising farmers who have rats and wish to keep them down to call at any of the Lake-Cook Farm Supply stores for a supply of the dry rat squill bait. These packages have full directions for their use just the same as the packages that came under refrigeration. However, they do not have to be used at any particular time. We would be glad to have farmers who do use this dry bait to make reports to us as to the success they have had.

SHOOTING ON HARLEM, NEAR IRVING PARK

Lorraine Lessnau, 18 year old girl from Chicago, was shot and critically injured Monday night while working at a milk stand on Harlem and Forest Preserve rds.

Albert Hulstrum, a Chicago acquaintance of the girl, was seen approaching the stand, gun in hand. Another worker warned Miss Lessnau of his approach and she attempted to escape through a window in the rear of the establishment.

Hulstrum ran to the rear of the building and fired point blank at the girl, wounding her in the hip. Hulstrum had just recently purchased the .38 revolver at a CCC camp.

As this is written the attempted murderer has not been found, while the victim is recovering at the Chicago Norwegian hospital.

Flu Season For Swine Is About To Get Under Way

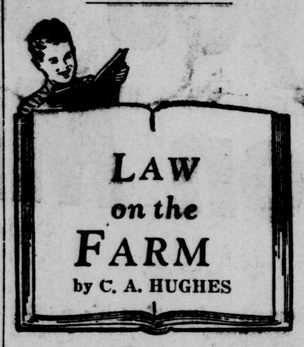

The flu season is about to start, not only for humans but also for pigs. The most effective treatment for pig flu, or swine influenza, is as simple as providing dry, clean pens for the pigs and feeding them sparingly, according to animal pathologists of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

The disease, which may be mistaken for cholera, occurs chiefly in the fall and early winter. Swine of all ages may be affected.

Symptoms are similar to the type of flue common to man. The patient suffers from extreme exhaustion, lack of appetite, high fever Breathing becomes difficult and there is often frequent coughing. In uncomplicated cases recovery after four or six days is usually prompt. Not more than one to four pigs in 100 having the disease usually die. However, in severe cases 10 out of 100 ill pigs may die from the malady, the pathologists say. As in human beings, one attack of flu doesn't make the pig immune to the disease.

Swine growers are advised to quarantine all newly purchased animals or those exhibited at shows for at least three weeks before the adding to the breeding herd.

Growers suspecting the malady being present in their herds may obtain an accurate diagnosis from their local veterinarians, the pathologists advised

THE FARMER'S WIFE. An important rule of "common law" was that when a man and a woman were married they became "as one." Furthermore the "one" was the husband. He had control of his wife's person and property rights, was entitled to any money that she might earn from outside employment, and represented her in suits and actions at law. In Illinois and in other states these common law principles have been abolished by statutes giving women equal property rights with men. Most professions are now open to women, either by law or through general acceptance.

The following rights are accorded married women by Illinois law:
1. To own, purchase, sell, mortgage or otherwise deal with her own personal and real property.
2. To sue and be sued without joining her husband with her.
3. To defend in her own right if she and her husband are sued together.
4. In case of desertion by husband to prosecute or defend, in the name of her husband, any actions which might have prosecuted or defended.
5. To be immune from her husband's creditors except insofar as his obligations are for family expenses and the education of his children.
6. To enter into contracts.
7. To "receive, use and possess her own earnings, and sue for the same in her own name, free from the interference of her husband or his creditors."

However, the law does limit the right of husband and wife to contract with each other by providing that, "neither husband nor wife shall be entitled to recover any compensation for any labor performed or services rendered for the other, whether in the management of property or otherwise." In interpreting this section the courts have held that a wife is not entitled to compensation for nursing her husband during illness, nor is the husband entitled to compensation for labor performed on his wife's farm.

Laws relative to husband and wife are in the Illinois Revised Statutes Chapter 68.

Industrialist Tells Formula to Beat Depressions

"It is my contention that a universal application of incentives for executives would level off the peaks and valleys that this country now encounters in going from a depression like that of 1933 to high production as we are now headed into for 1941 and 1942. If the majority of the executives in this country were on an incentive basis and a depression hit the country, they would work more rapidly to meet the situation and thus decrease greatly the severity of a depression."

This statement was made by Mr. George S. May of the George S. May, Inc., a foundation for the study of businesses in this country. The May industrial service is one of the largest in the United States and has served thousands of businesses to put them on an efficient operating basis.

Mr. May contends that executives who draw large salaries are inclined to meet a depression by decreased production with no effort at keeping their business going when they are on a straight salary basis. He states an executive should be paid a minimum salary with commissions and other forms of income derived from business profits.

When business is good the executive does not earn these large salaries is Mr. May's findings. Business comes to them without effort but if the executive was put in the position of having to show a profit for his business during depression times instead of sitting back and drawing a large salary he would immediately begin to figure where his adjustments could be made, costs could be reduced, and more goods turned out.

In our humble opinion we believe Mr. May has something there. Many small producers, such as farmers are in just this position. When prices are low the farmer is forced to produce more in order to make something but unfortunately his prices are cut because he has more. Business, on the other hand, reduces their production and holds costs up. "Although these executives receive large amounts of money, running up hundreds of thousands of dollars," Mr. May states, "that is a small percentage of the income of these businesses.

I think that during depression years if these executives received less than $5,000 they would be forced to meet the situation and keep their plants in operation thus employing more men, finding ways to produce more economically and also to find a market for their merchandise in order to increase their own personal gains."

In other words the payment of large salaries to these men who are in key positions does not tend to keep their industrial plants operating more efficiently and with no thought of turning out a maximum production at a minimum price.

This very interesting analysis of a business solution of extreme depressions and expansion was made by Mr. May at a meeting of the Fall Conference of Farm Advisers at the University of Illinois Friday, October 25. He concluded with this thought, that if the American enterprise system is to be maintained, which is being attacked from many quarters at the present time, our whole economic system that pivots on the ability of business executives must be overhauled in this one simple respect.

The results that would come from this sort of change would be "that the ideal of human efficiency for all classes of labor and management would be the production of maximum output of the highest quality in the shortest time, with the least expenditure of energy, and with the maximum satisfaction."

Mr. May made analysis of many concerns that are following this plan and he showed that during the depression years these concerns usually carried through without a serious loss of production and with a full employment of labor. Apparently Mr. May does not feel that politics has a great deal to do with the economy of the country. He feels that if the American enterprise system is to be maintained that it will be up to business to re-organize in order to defend our American system.

77% Of Illinois 1940 Corn Acreage Planted To Hybrid

Popularity of hybrid corn jumped again in Illinois in 1940, according to W. L. Burlison, head of the agronomy department at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

About 5,765,000 acres or 77 per cent of the total of 7,487,000 acres of corn grown in Illinois in 1940 was hybrid corn, he said.

Only one other state, Iowa, had a larger percentage of her acreage planted to hybrids than in Illinois. Iowa's percentage was 88.

"Most of Illinois' increase in hybrids during 1940 occurred in southern Illinois," reports C. M. Woodworth, professor of plant genetics. "Greater improvement has been made in hybrid corn in that section the past year than in northern Illinois," he said.

The percentge of hybrid to open-pollinated corn grown in Illinois in 1939 was 66, according to Burlison, 5,314,000 acres of the total crop of 8,051,000 acres being devoted to hybrids.

The spectacular increase in the acreage of hybrids throughout Illinois and the corn belt has been one of the most significant agricultural developments in recent years, according to Burlison. With total corn plantings in the 12 north central states estimated at 49,544,000 acres, more than half it planted to hybrids.

"In 1938, the first year for which Illinois and corn belt survey data are available, the heaviest concentration of hybrid corn acreage was found in northern Illinois and east central Iowa, and even there hybrids made up less than three-fourths of the total. Many sections of this era now have as much as 95 per cent of the total corn acreage in hybrids. The concentration of acreage has spread out in all directions until the 1940 hybrids constituted more than 80 per cent of the total corn acreage in the northern half of Illinois, Indiana, most of Iowa, the southern parts of Minnesota and Wisconsin and the northwestern part of Ohio.

"A number of factors, such as the increased use of fertilizers, the tendency to plant hybrids on the more fertile fields and generally favorable season the past few years, make the evaluation of the effect of hybrids on per-acre yield trends more difficult. However, if hybrids have increased corn yields by no more than 10 per cent," Burlison says, "The net effect has been to increase corn production by many millions of bushels without increasing acreage. With hybrids continuing to be improved, their ultimate effect as a factor increasing corn production cannot be fully evaluated at the present time.

Defective Flues A Major Cause Of Farm Fires

Using Kerosene To Hasten Fire Dangerous Risk

There's a fifth columnist lurking in every farm home now that winter is approaching. It lies harmless until some cold morning a farmer pours it onto wood or coal to hasten the fire or until some afternoon when a homemaker adds a little to the dying embers in her stove so she can prepare supper in a hurry. Then kerosene can turn into a demon, says Miss Gladys Ward, home management specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

More than 1,600 women died last year as a result of severe burns or accidents at home, said Miss Ward. Of this number some 350 deaths resulted from the use of flammable liquids for kindling fires, for dry cleaning and other purposes. It included some 150 women who lost their lives because their clothing caught fire from hot stoves or open fires. All one woman did was to use her apron for a pot holder to remove a pan from her stove and in doing so set her apron ablaze.

Sometimes illness or old age infirmity causes an accident which unfortunately could not be forseen, said Miss Ward. However, the use of kerosene or any other flammable liquid to start a fire is a dangerous risk. Of the total number of fatal burns, 20 per cent were caused by explosions or spreading flames arising from the use of such liquids.

Plodding sturdily in the night, through slush and drift or mud and storm, the Pilgrim chimney viewer called the hour and that "all is well" in the early winters of the Plymouth colony. Chimneys then built of small green sapling limbs and plastered over with clay or mud were constant fire hazards. The colonies knew the danger and sought security by having one of their members make the rounds hourly to give the alarm in case an overheated chimney ignited and threatened the cabin and its occupants. If we could go back the 300 odd years to that Massachusetts Bay Colony, we would see the crude hogshead, filled with water, and the handmade wooden pails on the village green, belonging to our first volunteer fire department in America.

Three centuries have passed, and with the importation of bricks and their use in chimney construction we have grown forgetful and careless with the passing years. The hazard still remains, although much reduced.

Back in 1871, O'Leary's cow, in her rebellious mood, started a great fire. Other big fires have been started just as innocently. Matches and mice or children, faulty wiring, keroene quenched coals or kindling, overheated stoves, lightning and sparks have been accused and often found guilty of starting fires. Defective flues are frequent offenders. Like the dawn they steal upon us in the night and start their destruction. Unknown and unseen, they lurk and attack at a time when we are least prepared and suspecting.

Farm fires take 3,500 lives in the United Sttes each year, and about 100 in our own commonwealth. In addition they take material things . . . .homes, barns, equipment and stored crops amounting to an estimated $100,000,000 annually. . . . .a tidy sum and a great national economic waste.

How may we reduce this waste? We must be alert and organized like the chimney viewer and chimney sweeper at Plymouth in 1630. It would be folly to watch the flue and wajt for a fire rather than make a frequent inspection and the needed repairs.

As winter approaches, all of us should remember the hazards in the flues of the house heating plant or kitchen range. It would be well to inspect and repair the flue before we fire up the furnace. It may save a life. . . .your own, or some loved one. . . .from the horrible death from burns. Only a year ago in a short radio talk, the writer warned about taking chances with flues and reviving smoldering fires with kerosene; within a fortnight two homemakers and mothers in Champaign County died as a result of such hazard.

Dried Bait For Rats Being Tried

The Cook County Farm Bureau has had two campaigns using prepared refrigerated baits put out by the U. S. D. A. Biological Survey. Realizing an inconvenience was caused by using these prepared baits under refrigeration another plan has been worked out to use dry bait. Red squill, which was used in the prepared bait under refrigeration, is being used as the same poisoning agency. However, it is felt that if this plan will work, it will not necessitate farmers getting their bait on a certain day and putting it out at a certain time and probably making a trip to headquarters to get the bait.

Arrangements have been completed with the Lake-Cook Farm Supply Company to handle this dry bait in their stores in Cook County. The bait is just as cheap, or perhaps a little cheaper, and it is our belief that rats will take it about as well as or better than they did the prepared bait. Farmers who are interested in baiting their rats in the fall when they begin to come from exposed places might do well to try this bait. We have one report from Bureau County where this plan was used and the farm adviser reports that to date he has had no complaints from the use of this dry bait. Therefore, we are advising farmers who have rats and wish to keep them down to call at any of the Lake-Cook Farm Supply stores for a supply of the dry rat squill bait. These packages have full directions for their use just the same as the packages that came under refrigeration. However, they do not have to be used at any particular time. We would be glad to have farmers who do use this dry bait to make reports to us as to the success they have had.

SHOOTING ON HARLEM, NEAR IRVING PARK

Lorraine Lessnau, 18 year old girl from Chicago, was shot and critically injured Monday night while working at a milk stand on Harlem and Forest Preserve rds.

Albert Hulstrum, a Chicago acquaintance of the girl, was seen approaching the stand, gun in hand. Another worker warned Miss Lessnau of his approach and she attempted to escape through a window in the rear of the establishment.

Hulstrum ran to the rear of the building and fired point blank at the girl, wounding her in the hip. Hulstrum had just recently purchased the .38 revolver at a CCC camp.

As this is written the attempted murderer has not been found, while the victim is recovering at the Chicago Norwegian hospital.

Flu Season For Swine Is About To Get Under Way

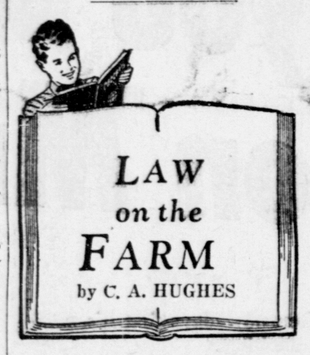

The flu season is about to start, not only for humans but also for pigs. The most effective treatment for pig flu, or swine influenza, is as simple as providing dry, clean pens for the pigs and feeding them sparingly, according to animal pathologists of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

The disease, which may be mistaken for cholera, occurs chiefly in the fall and early winter. Swine of all ages may be affected.

Symptoms are similar to the type of flue common to man. The patient suffers from extreme exhaustion, lack of appetite, high fever Breathing becomes difficult and there is often frequent coughing. In uncomplicated cases recovery after four or six days is usually prompt. Not more than one to four pigs in 100 having the disease usually die. However, in severe cases 10 out of 100 ill pigs may die from the malady, the pathologists say. As in human beings, one attack of flu doesn't make the pig immune to the disease.

Swine growers are advised to quarantine all newly purchased animals or those exhibited at shows for at least three weeks before the adding to the breeding herd.

Growers suspecting the malady being present in their herds may obtain an accurate diagnosis from their local veterinarians, the pathologists advised

THE FARMER'S WIFE. An important rule of "common law" was that when a man and a woman were married they became "as one." Furthermore the "one" was the husband. He had control of his wife's person and property rights, was entitled to any money that she might earn from outside employment, and represented her in suits and actions at law. In Illinois and in other states these common law principles have been abolished by statutes giving women equal property rights with men. Most professions are now open to women, either by law or through general acceptance.

The following rights are accorded married women by Illinois law:
1. To own, purchase, sell, mortgage or otherwise deal with her own personal and real property.
2. To sue and be sued without joining her husband with her.
3. To defend in her own right if she and her husband are sued together.
4. In case of desertion by husband to prosecute or defend, in the name of her husband, any actions which might have prosecuted or defended.
5. To be immune from her husband's creditors except insofar as his obligations are for family expenses and the education of his children.
6. To enter into contracts.
7. To "receive, use and possess her own earnings, and sue for the same in her own name, free from the interference of her husband or his creditors."

However, the law does limit the right of husband and wife to contract with each other by providing that, "neither husband nor wife shall be entitled to recover any compensation for any labor performed or services rendered for the other, whether in the management of property or otherwise." In interpreting this section the courts have held that a wife is not entitled to compensation for nursing her husband during illness, nor is the husband entitled to compensation for labor performed on his wife's farm.

Laws relative to husband and wife are in the Illinois Revised Statutes Chapter 68.

77% Of Illinois 1940 Corn Acreage Planted To Hybrid

Popularity of hybrid corn jumped again in Illinois in 1940, according to W. L. Burlison, head of the agronomy department at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

About 5,765,000 acres or 77 per cent of the total of 7,487,000 acres of corn grown in Illinois in 1940 was hybrid corn, he said.

Only one other state, Iowa, had a larger percentage of her acreage planted to hybrids than in Illinois. Iowa's percentage was 88.

"Most of Illinois' increase in hybrids during 1940 occurred in southern Illinois," reports C. M. Woodworth, professor of plant genetics. "Greater improvement has been made in hybrid corn in that section the past year than in northern Illinois," he said.

The percentge of hybrid to openpollinated corn grown in Illinois in 1939 was 66, according to Burlison, 5,314,000 acres of the total crop of 8,051,000 acres being devoted to hybrids.

The spectacular increase in the acreage of hybrids throughout Illinois and the corn belt has been one of the most significant agricultural developments in recent years, according to Burlison. With total corn plantings in the 12 north central states estimated at 49,544,000 acres, more than half it planted to hybrids.

"In 1938, the first year for which Illinois and corn belt survey data are available, the heaviest concentration of hybrid corn acreage was found in northern Illinois and east central Iowa, and even there hybrids made up less than three-fourths of the total. Many sections of this era now have as much as 95 per cent of the total corn acreage in hybrids. The concentration of acreage has spread out in all directions until the 1940 hybrids constituted more than 80 per cent of the total corn acreage in the northern half of Illinois, Indiana, most of Iowa, the southern parts of Minnesota and Wisconsin and the northwestern part of Ohio.

"A number of factors, such as the increased use of fertilizers, the tendency to plant hybrids on the more fertile fields and generally favorable season the past few years, make the evaluation of the effect of hybrids on per-acre yield trends more difficult. However, If hybrids have increased corn yields by no more than 10 per cent," Burlison says, "The net effect has been to increase corn production by many millions of bushels without increasing acreage. With hybrids continuing to be improved, their ultimate effect as a factor increasing corn production cannot be fully evaluated at the present time.

Jobs Open For Day Workers At 5306 Lawrence

Jobs are open for experienced household day-workers, both men and women, at the Illinois State Employment Service office at 5306 Lawrence ave., Herbert Bass, manager of the office, said today.

Persons looking for this kind of work were urged to register with the Employment Service at once.

"Fall house-cleaning season has caused an increase in the demand for capable and dependable day-workers," said Mr. Bass. "We have been unable to fill all the orders received because we haven't enough day-workers on our registration lists.

"The jobs are good ones, paying the prevailing rates. We shall probably be able to furnish good workers with enough jobs to keep them busy most of the week."

Workers interested in these jobs, Mr. Bass said, should come to the office at 8:30 in the morning to make sure of getting a prompt interview.

Jobs Open For Day Workers At 5306 Lawrence

Jobs are open for experienced household day-workers, both men and women, at the Illinois State Employment Service office at 5306 Lawrence ave., Herbert Bass, manager of the office, said today.

Persons looking for this kind of work were urged to register with the Employment Service at once.

"Fall house-cleaning season has caused an increase in the demand for capable and dependable day-workers," said Mr. Bass. "We have been unable to fill all the orders received because we haven't enough day-workers on our registration lists.

"The jobs are good ones, paying the prevailing rates. We shall probably be able to furnish good workers with enough jobs to keep them busy most of the week."

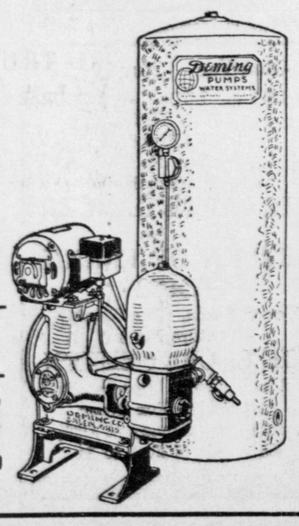

Workers interested in these jobs, Mr. Bass said, should come to the office at 8:30 in the morning to make sure of getting a prompt interview.

Mac Says-

by GERALD A. MC ELROY

Libertyville's 1940 gridiron machine takes its place among the great teams that have been turned out at a great football school. The Wildcats of this season were undefeated and untied and without question the best team in the conference. Their strength was a rugged, aggressive line and a fine passer is Gossel. It would be difficult to single out a star in the line where Strand, Morris, Kane, Koskins, Struthers, Brumm and Cherenovich all played fine ball. This group averaged 185 pounds in weight and six feet tall. There were no weak spots in the backfield group of Gossel, Whammond, Brown, Krummery, Nolan, and Molidor. Coach Bergstrom has had two undefeated teams in the last three seasons and that is really good going in any league.

Second In A Two Team Race

Lake Forest proved Saturday that it really was a two-team football race all the way when they swamped Crystal Lake 37-0. We understand that the Scouts were not up to par at Libertyville when they suffered their only defeat. Lindenmeyer's boys really took out their disappointment on the boys from Crystal Lake. By the way, Lindenmeyer has never had a team that was not among the leaders.

We Picked The Winner

We picked Libertyville to go through undefeated from the start and we picked Warren for seventh and Woodstock for eighth, but some of our other pre-season predictions were off color. Our worst doping was in the case of Arlington whom we picked for second, but who finished sixth. Also two of the three games we picked wrong out of the six played involved Arlington.

Way Off on Arlington

Here are the way they finished and the way we picked them before the season opened:

Finished	Our Picks
1. Libertyville	first
2. Lake Forest	third
3. Crystal Lake	fifth
4. Niles	sixth
5. Leyden	fourth
6. Arlington	second
7. Warren	seventh
8. Woodstock	eighth

A Team That Didn't Give Up

It is fitting that we pay tribute to a fighting Arlington football team. The boys showed that they were made up of the right stuff by coming back to whip a favored Niles team in the final homecoming game. The swell spirit and support shown by the student body in the face of frequent defeats had a great deal to do with keeping up the team morale and bringing the Cardinals a homecoming victory.

Basketball Next on Sports Menu

All the schools are getting ready or have already started playing afternoon practice games to prepare for the conference openers in both leagues which come November 29. Next week we will start a series of prevues of the team prospects in both leagues. League schedules will appear soon. From what we recall it seems that Libertyville, Leyden, Arlington, and Woodstock have the most veterans back and may be the leaders this year in the Northeast. Of course we may revise the estimate later. In the Northwest Palatine, Northbrook, Wauconda, and Grant have the most experienced players returning.

Good Game On Tap November 12

The new Arlington town team aided by several college stars is playing real ball. They are bringing the Harlem Globe-Trotters, National Professional Champions, to Arlington for a game next Tuesday, November 12. This should be a great attraction and help get the fans in the mood for a lot of good basketball that both the town team and Coach Hayes' lights and heavies of the high school will dish out during the coming winter.

Isaacson of Niles Heads Coaches Association

The Northeast Illinois Coaches Association held their annual fall meeting at the Evanston township high school Monday evening where they enjoyed a turkey dinner, elected officers for the year and watched movies of the Northwestern-Syracuse football game. New officers for the year are Isaacson of Niles township high school as president; McGill of Evanston, vice president; and "Rip" Watson of Leyden, secretary-treasurer. Schools from the Northeast and Northwest conference represented were Arlington, Niles, Lake Forest, Leyden, Crystal Lake, Barrington, Northbrook, and Palatine.

Libertyville Rolls Up 19 Points In First Half To Remain Undefeated

Libertyville left little doubt concerning their claim to undisputed championship honors as they rolled up 19 points in the first half to beat Leyden 19-6 and finish the year undefeated.

The Wildcats intercepted a pass in midfield at the beginning of the game and advanced to the two yard line where they fumbled and Leyden recovered. Right after the kick out Libertyville passed for a touchdown. In the second period Libertyvile blocked a punt and recovered on the one yard line with a touchdown following. Late in the same period a long pass was snagged for the third touchdown.

Leyden played some of their best ball of the season in the second half. After a march almost to the Libertyville goal the Eagles lost the ball on downs, but on the attempted kick out Libertyville fumbled and Leyden recovered on the two yard line and plunged over for the score. Leyden filled the air with passes and kept Libertyville on the defensive all the last period.

Libertyville's team played and looked like champions particularly in being able to take advantage of all the breaks which came their way and capitalize upon them.

75 Report For Basketball At Arlington

Coaches Hayes and Campbell Start First Practice Monday

A squad of boys numbering about seventy-five reported for practice to try out for the basketball teams Monday at the Arlington Heights high school. From these numerous candidates coaches Hayes and Campbell will eventually choose around thirty players to play the schedule of varsity and "lightweight" games. Many of the remaining boys will take part in Frosh-Soph basketball games with teams from nearby schools.

From last year's varsity squad, which played an improving brand of ball as the season progressed, come only three letter winners. Ed Mueller and Ed Schulenburg are are big, experienced and dangerous scorers. Herman Becker is a deadshot artist who moved up to the varsity early last January and became a fixture there.

Last year's reserve (lightweight) team, which opened the season with three straight losses, but closed with seven wins in nine starts, contributes most of the remainder of the prospective varsity squad. J. Harth, T. Jarvis, R. Hauptly, R. Schwolow, Dick Busse, and Bob Heinze are six feet tall or better and were playing excellent ball at the close of last season.

Harold Vetter, who misses six feet only slightly, is another sharpshooter who looks to be ready for the varsity. J. Millay, O. Bolte, K. Bowlin, J. Morici, and C. Dearie are smaller players, all underclassmen, who may spend a part or all of their playing time in varsity uniforms.

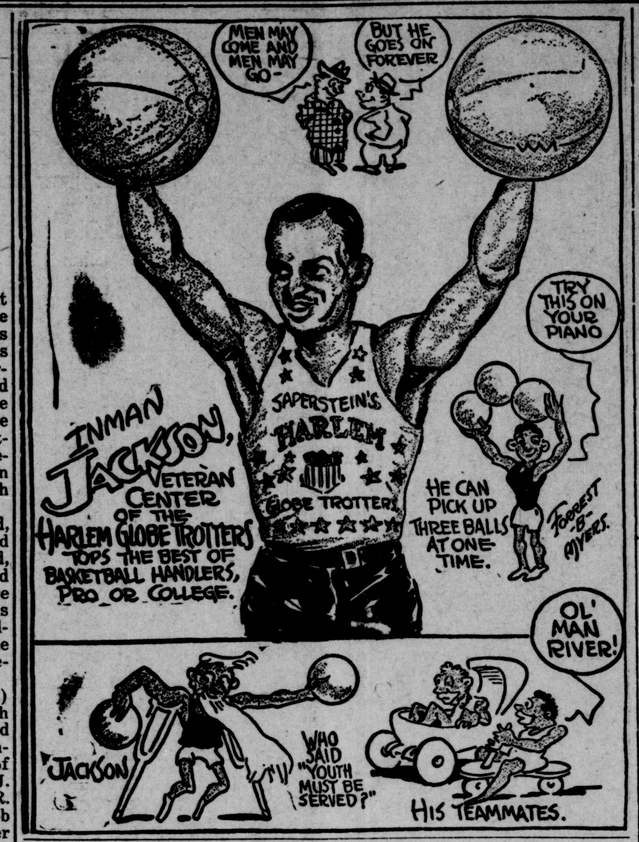

Two new students, Roy Goebbert and Richard Gieseke, are candidates for the team and will need extensive try-outs to determine their ability to fit smoothly into an outfit to which they have been strangers.

Arlington's prospects in the conference race cannot be estimated yet. Moreover, no practice games were scheduled and it will be difficult to get an accurate line on the team before the first league game on Nov. 29. It is possible only to say that there will be a quantity of material but that the quality is so far unknown.

Woodstock Ties Warren, 6 - 6

Woodstock outplayed Warren in the final game of the season, but had to score late in the game to gain a tie of 6-6. The Blue Streaks coached by Ken Zimmerman threatened repeatedly, once marching 85 yards without scoring. It was homecoming at Woodstock and the biggest crowd of the year paid tribute to a winless but fighting team.

Warren scored in the first period after intercepting a pass and marching 65 yards. Zelenko scored. Woodstock staged four long drives down the field and finally put over a touchdown in the last period on an end run by Joorfetz. Woodstock made 171 yards rushing and 34 by passing while Warren collected 126 by rushing and 25 by passes. Joorfetz averaged 40 yards on his punts while Wirth of Warren averaged 28.

Harlem Globetrotters, professional basketball champions, will meet the Arlington Racers, town team, at the Arlington High School Gym next Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Lake Forest Crushes Crystal Lake 37-0

Lake Forest crushed Crystal Lake 37-0 for the most one sided score of the conference season in the final last Saturday. The Scouts scored first on a field goal, but soon afterward a sleeper play gave the home team a touchdown and another came two plays later when Lohman ran 83 yards to score behind excellent blocking. The scouts tallied again before the half to lead 23-0.

In the second half, Lake Forest completed the rout by scoring twice on intercepted passes as the Crystal Lake team tried to desperately score through the air.

Offensively Shiel, Lohman, and Gyllenberg stood out for Lake Forest. Capt. Julius Batenic was outstanding as usual in a line which badly outplayed their opponents. Cook, colored half back, was a defensive star with four intercepted passes. Lake Forest threatened on but one occasion and that was when a 65 yard run on a reverse carried the ball to the 20 yard line.

Lake Forest has one remaining game and that Friday when they meet the strong Zion-Benton eleven which has won five straight since their opening defeat at Riverside.

Evanston Discovers Palatine Means Business; Beaten Again 34-29

Thursday afternoon of last week Palatine's cagers made it two straight practice game victories over Evanston by whipping the big school five 34-29 in a hard fought game. Palatine won 31-22 the week before at Evanston.

The Pirates trailed in the first quarter, but fast breaking tactics with Snyder hitting from all angles gave Palatine a half time lead of 22-17. Starting the second half Hildebrandt, the Pirates' six foot three center, dropped in nine points in two minutes. Thereafter Palatine hit a streak of poor shooting and even missed eight successive lay up shots. However the lead was sufficient.

Hollinger got back into action but twisted his knee again after but three minutes of playing. Snyder led both teams in scoring with 12 points, all in the first half. Hildebrandt had nine, DeBerge seven, Hahnfeldt three and Hollinger three. Both Hollinger and Hahnfeldt left the game due to injuries. McCombs was not able to play at all due to a knee injury. Godknecht filled in at guard with DeBerge shifted to forward and both performed well.

Thursday of this week the Pirates travel to Dundee for a scrimmage. Next Tuesday afternoon Libertyville's lanky team will come to Palatine for a practice game.

Wilbert F. Meier Named Commissioner Of Sports In Kane County

It was announced by A.A.U. officials in Chicago that Wilbert F. Meier, son of William E. Meier, a former resident of Arlington Heights, has been chosen A.A.U. commissioner for Kane county to promote amateur sport in that county. Meier has been interested in the activities of Elgin sports since his arrival in Elgin three years ago. Since he is not able to take an active part in sports personally he enjoys having had something to do in its promotion. Besides his duty as commissioner he is at present secretary of the Elgin Chess and Checker club and secretary of the Watch City Horseshoe club. He is also manager of a real estate firm.

Cardinals Show Their Stuff At Homecoming; Defeat Niles, 6-0

Pirates Finish 6 Wins, 3 Defeats In Cross Country

Senn High School Of Chicago Beaten 36-21 Last Week

Palatine completed a highly successful cross country season last Friday when they beat Senn of Chicago 36-21 on the home grounds. The Pirate's record for the season was six victories and three defeats against schools of Chicago, the West Suburban, and the Suburban Leagues.

The Pirates won from Evanston, York of Elmhurst, Riverside, Wheaton, and Senn twice. The defeats were at the hands of Maine of Des Plaines, Crane Tech, and Lane Tech.

The letter winners for Palatine in the order of their records for the season are Langhoff, junior; Cipri, senior; Trepus, senior; Anderson, sophomore; Hooson, sophomore; Timmerhause, junior; and Field, junior. The Palatine team was at full strength for only three of the nine meets. Langhoff missed four meets and Cipri and Trepus each missed two due to bad colds.

Bronchos Tie Northbrook Into Game and Championship

Barrington Bronchos ran rough shod over Northbrook last Saturday in their game for the Northwest championship, but were lucky to get a 6-6 tie. The Bronchos tied the score with but two minutes of play remaining in the game though they had made 14 first downs to Northbrook's four.

Barrington marched from the opening kickoff down to the Northbrook 13 yard line where an intercepted pass stopped the threat. Clark's boys came right back, however, and traveled from their own 34 yard line to the Northbrook nine before the ball was lost on downs.

Early in the third period Northbrook gained the ball on their own 43 yard line and on the first play Wahl hit off tackle and flipped a lateral to Howard Strauss, who galloped 57 yards for a touchdown.

Barrington's third long march started late in the final period from their own 39 yard line. Zimmerman tossed a third down pass of 28 yards to Moeller and then later heaved a fourth down pass of 22 yards to the same receiver to set up the scoring situation. Stewart cut off tackle eight yards for the tying touchdown.

Arlington Scores In Last Period For Only Points

Arlington Heights Cardinal football squad salvaged some of its reputation last Saturday by winning their final game from Niles high 6-0. Arlington almost completely outplayed Niles from start to finish, but through their own errors postponed their ultimate victory until late in the last quarter. Only once did Niles really threaten to score and that attempt came at the very tag end of the game and threw a terrific scare into the Arlington team and crowd alike.

Whether it was the fact that the game was Arlington's homecoming, or that they were just determined to win this, their final game, the Cardinals fought as they had never before all season. For once the entire Arlington line was functioning and but for sporadic forays by Heiniger, stellar Niles back, the Niles high offense was bottled up all afternoon.

Arlington was constantly threatening to score. However, mistakes of one kind or another seemed to be the principal reasons for their failure to carry the ball over that last coveted white line. While Niles battled back gamely each time an Arlington offensive move was in the making, it was mainly through the Cardinals own miscues rather than Niles defensive tactics that Arlington failed to score much sooner.

The irony of the game came that all the Arlington offensive strength failed to get them over for a touchdown. It was only that the Cardinals capitalized on a Niles error of judgment in the final period that they were enabled to win. In this final period with only four minutes to go Niles elected to pass on fourth down on their 28 yard line instead of punting. They failed to complete it and the ball went over to Arlington.

In a last desperate effort Arlington went over in four downs. Morici hit right tackle for two yards, Mayer left tackle for two and Morici again at right tackle for 5 yards. Then Weber slanted off left tackle for 19 yards and the winning touchdown. It was quite fitting that the honor of this winning run should go to the hard fighting co-captain and right half back of the Cardinals.

It looked as though the Cards would score in the second period. A long pass, Mueller to Harth, put the ball on the 30 yard line as the first quarter ended. Morici and Mayer alternated to carry the ball to the Niles 8 yard line. A holding penalty of 15 yards set them back, then a fumble lost them the ball.

Shortly after the second half started Heiniger reeled off a 32 yard run inside Arlington's right end and went to the Arlington 30 yard line. Pass interference by Morici gave Niles a first down on the 17 yard line. Two runs and two attempted passes netted them a minus three yards and Arlington took over on the 20.

After Arlington's touchdown, Heiniger again got loose for twenty-five yards to Arlington 40 yard line. An 8 yard gain and an unnecessary roughness penalty put Arlington back on their 18 yard line. A ten yard plunge took Niles to the 8 yard line where Arlington stone walled them for four downs and took the ball on the 7 yard line. Two Cardinal plays later, the game ended.

The entire Arlington line played their best game of the season, but especial honor must go to Haugen and Dudley. These two were at their very best. The Arlington forwards were opening huge holes in the Niles line and it was only by some heroic backing up of the line by the Niles secondary that stopped Morici, Weber and Mayer. These three were hitting the Niles line for consistent gains, Morici particularly driving for a goodly total of yardage. Mayer for the most part was backing up the Arlington line in fine style.

Lucky Thief

A robber who walked into a bakery in Chicago and took $15 while a $2,000 payroll was being delivered to another bakery two doors away, was lucky at that. He met no resistance while grabbing the $15. He would have found an armed messenger and a policeman waiting for him if he had aimed at the higher stakes.

'Tom Brown's School Days' Depicts Initiation Of Honor System Into Schools

The temptations which beset youth are graphically revealed in RKO Radio's picturization of "Tom Brown's School Days," produced by Gene Towne and Graham Baker and coming to the Catlow Theatre for one day only, Saturday. Based on Thomas Hughes' well known novel, the story illustrates the oppression and disorder rampant in English public schools about a century ago until Dr. Thomas Arnold instituted the honor system, universally used in public schools since its introduction.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke portrays the noted educator, while other top featured spots are shared by Freddie Bartholomew, Jimmy Lydon, Josephine Hutchinson and Billy Halpp.

The adventure, romance and crackling action of the Old Southwest come to the screen under the masterful directorial touch of Sam Wood in "Rangers of Fortune," the Paramount picture, opening Sunday at the Catlow Theatre.

Famed for his handling of "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," and "Our Town," Wood succeeds in a totally different vein this time, telling the story of three gay and gusty knights of the sagebrush.

Fred MacMurray and Patricia Morison are romantically linked in lead roles, while Albert Dekker, Gilbert Roland, Joseph Schildkraut and Dick Foran play the leading featured roles.

A timely drama of youth, its hopes, fears and ambitions, comes to the Catlow Theatre Tuesday. The new film Columbia's "Military Academy," presents Tommy Kelly, of "Tom Sawyer" fame; Bobby "Dead End Kid" Jordan, Jackie Searl and David Holt in featured roles.

Turning the spotlight of motion picture publicity upon the modern generation and how they are trained for manhood, "Military Academy" has been hailed for its high entertainment qualities as well as its understandingly sympathetic treatment of "the awkward age" of American youth, that period in which the boy has not yet become a man.

Double featured on Tuesday with "Military Academy" is "Girl from Avenue A," with Jane Withers as a Bowery spitfire suddenly launched in ritzy Park Avenue—It's the Jane you love best . . . in her biggest and grandest picture. Featured supporting players include Kent Taylor, Katharine Aldridge, Elyse Knox, Laura Hope Crews, Jessie Ralph, Harry Shannon, Vaughan Glaser and Rand Brooks.

Raft, Sheridan, Lupino And Bogart Star In Action Hit

Plenty of laughs, excitement and romance are in store for Palatine audiences when Warner Bros.' new film, "They Drive By Night," is shown Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The cast includes an array of screen talent that is difficult to surpass. In the starring roles are George Raft, Ann Sheridan, Ida Lupino and Humphrey Bogart.

George Raft plays the part of a terse fellow who just wants to be able to get along without having to tangle with anyone—and that means women. He is not successful. Humphrey Bogart, in the role of his brother, would like to be able to appreciate his home and wife — to have some time he could call his own. Raft thinks that all that talk about home life is just so much nonsense until he meets and falls in love with a waitress, played by Ann Sheridan.

Irrepressible Martha Raye had to be repressed before Allan Jones could complete one of his romantic scenes with Rosemary Lane for "The Boys From Syracuse," coming also to the Palatine Theatre Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Jones was singing "Falling In Love With Love." Between rehearsals Miss Raye sat on the sidelines and in a near-perfect imitation of Jones' voice mimicked his rendition of the song.

Both Jones and Miss Lane joined the entire company in laughter which ended only after director A. Edward Sutherland ejected Miss Raye from the set, until the scene was completed.

Portentous in its timeliness, "Four Sons" comes to the Palatine Theatre Friday and Saturday. The 20th Century-Fox picture features Don Ameche, Eugenie Leontovich, Mary Beth Hughes, Alan Curtis and many others, and has been called one of the most stirring pictures of recent years.

Don't See Red

Most nocturnal birds are relatively color-blind to reds, and on the other hand, most birds that are active during daytime do not see blue very well, reports the Better Vision Institute. If a mixture of gray and blue grains are fed to chickens, the blue grains will be ignored until the gray kernels have been picked up. Feeding experiments with night birds have indicated that they cannot see reds very easily.

Stock Exchange Seat

The value of a New York Stock Exchange seat reached the lowest price since 1915, on May 28, 1940, when it "sold" for $42,000. The highest price on record was $70,000 in 1939.

Mac Says-

by GERALD A. MC ELROY

Libertyville's 1940 gridiron machine takes its place among the great teams that have been turned out at a great football school. The Wildcats of this season were undefeated and untied and without question the best team in the conference. Their strength was a rugged, aggressive line and a fine passer is Gossel. It would be difficult to single out a star in the line where Strand, Morris, Kane, Koskins, Struthers, Brumm and Cherenovich all played fine ball. This group averaged 185 pounds in weight and six feet tall. There were no weak spots in the backfield group of Gossel, Whammond, Brown, Krummery, Nolan, and Molidor. Coach Bergstrom has had two undefeated teams in the last three seasons and that is really good going in any league.

Second In A Two Team Race

Lake Forest proved Saturday that it really was a two-team football race all the way when they swamped Crystal Lake 37-0. We understand that the Scouts were not up to par at Libertyville when they suffered their only defeat. Lindenmeyer's boys really took out their disappointment on the boys from Crystal Lake. By the way, Lindenmeyer has never had a team that was not among the leaders.

We Picked The Winner

We picked Libertyville to go through undefeated from the start and we picked Warren for seventh and Woodstock for eighth, but some of our other pre-season predictions were off color. Our worst doping was in the case of Arlington whom we picked for second, but who finished sixth. Also two of the three games we picked wrong out of the 24 played involved Arlington.

Way Off on Arlington

Here are the way they finished and the way we picked them before the season opened:

Finished	Our Picks
1. Libertyville	first
2. Lake Forest	third
3. Crystal Lake	fifth
4. Niles	sixth
5. Leyden	fourth
6. Arlington	second
7. Warren	seventh
8. Woodstock	eighth

A Team That Didn't Give Up

It is fitting that we pay tribute to a fighting Arlington football team. The boys showed that they were made up of the right stuff by coming back to whip a favored Niles team in the final homecoming game. The swell spirit and support shown by the student body in the face of frequent defeats had a great deal to do with keeping up the team morale and bringing the Cardinals a homecoming victory.

Basketball Next on Sports Menu

All the schools are getting ready or have already started playing afternoon practice games to prepare for the conference openers in both leagues which come November 29. Next week we will start a series of prevues of the team prospects in both leagues. League schedules will appear soon. From what we recall it seems that Libertyville, Leyden, Arlington, and Woodstock have the most veterans back and may be the leaders this year in the Northeast. Of course we may revise the estimate later. In the Northwest Palatine, Northbrook, Wauconda, and Grant have the most experienced players returning.

Good Game On Tap November 12

The new Arlington town team aided by several college stars is playing real ball. They are bringing the Harlem Globe-Trotters, National Professional Champions, to Arlington for a game next Tuesday, November 12. This should be a great attraction and help get the fans in the mood for a lot of good basketball that both the town team and Coach Hayes' lights and heavies of the high school will dish out during the coming winter.

Isaacson of Niles Heads Coaches Association

The Northeast Illinois Coaches Association held their annual fall meeting at the Evanston township high school Monday evening where they enjoyed a turkey dinner, elected officers for the year and watched movies of the Northwestern-Syracuse football game. New officers for the year are Isaacson of Niles township high school as president; McGill of Evanston, vice president; and "Rip" Watson of Leyden, secretary-treasurer. Schools from the Northeast and Northwest conference represented were Arlington, Niles, Lake Forest, Leyden, Crystal Lake, Barrington, Northbrook, and Palatine.

Libertyville Rolls Up 19 Points In First Half To Remain Undefeated

Libertyville left little doubt concerning their claim to undisputed championship honors as they rolled up 19 points in the first half to beat Leyden 19-6 and finish the year undefeated.

The Wildcats intercepted a pass in midfield at the beginning of the game and advanced to the two yard line where they fumbled and Leyden recovered. Right after the kick out Libertyville passed for a touchdown. In the second period Libertyvile blocked a punt and recovered on the one yard line with a touchdown following. Late in the same period a long pass was snagged for the third touchdown.

Leyden played some of their best ball of the season in the second half. After a march almost to the Libertyville goal the Eagles lost the ball on downs, but on the attempted kick out Libertyville fumbled and Leyden recovered on the two yard line and plunged over for the score. Leyden filled the air with passes and kept Libertyville on the defensive all the last period.

Libertyville's team played and looked like champions particularly in being able to take advantage of all the breaks which came their way and capitalize upon them.

75 Report For Basketball At Arlington

Coaches Hayes and Campbell Start First Practice Monday

A squad of boys numbering about seventy-five reported for practice to try out for the basketball teams Monday at the Arlington Heights high school. From these numerous candidates coaches Hayes and Campbell will eventually choose around thirty players to play the schedule of varsity and "lightweight" games. Many of the remaining boys will take part in Frosh-Soph basketball games with teams from nearby schools.

From last year's varsity squad, which played an improving brand of ball as the season progressed, come only three letter winners. Ed Mueller and Ed Schulenburg are are big, experienced and dangerous scorers. Herman Becker is a deadshot artist who moved up to the varsity early last January and became a fixture there.

Last year's reserve (lightweight) team, which opened the season with three straight losses, but closed with seven wins in nine starts, contributes most of the remainder of the prospective varsity squad. J. Harth, T. Jarvis, R. Hauptly, R. Schwolow, Dick Busse, and Bob Heinze are six feet tall or better and were playing excellent ball at the close of last season.

Harold Vetter, who misses six feet only slightly, is another sharpshooter who looks to be ready for the varsity. J. Millay, O. Bolte, K. Bowlin, J. Morici, and C. Dearie are smaller players, all underclassmen, who may spend a part or all of their playing time in varsity uniforms.

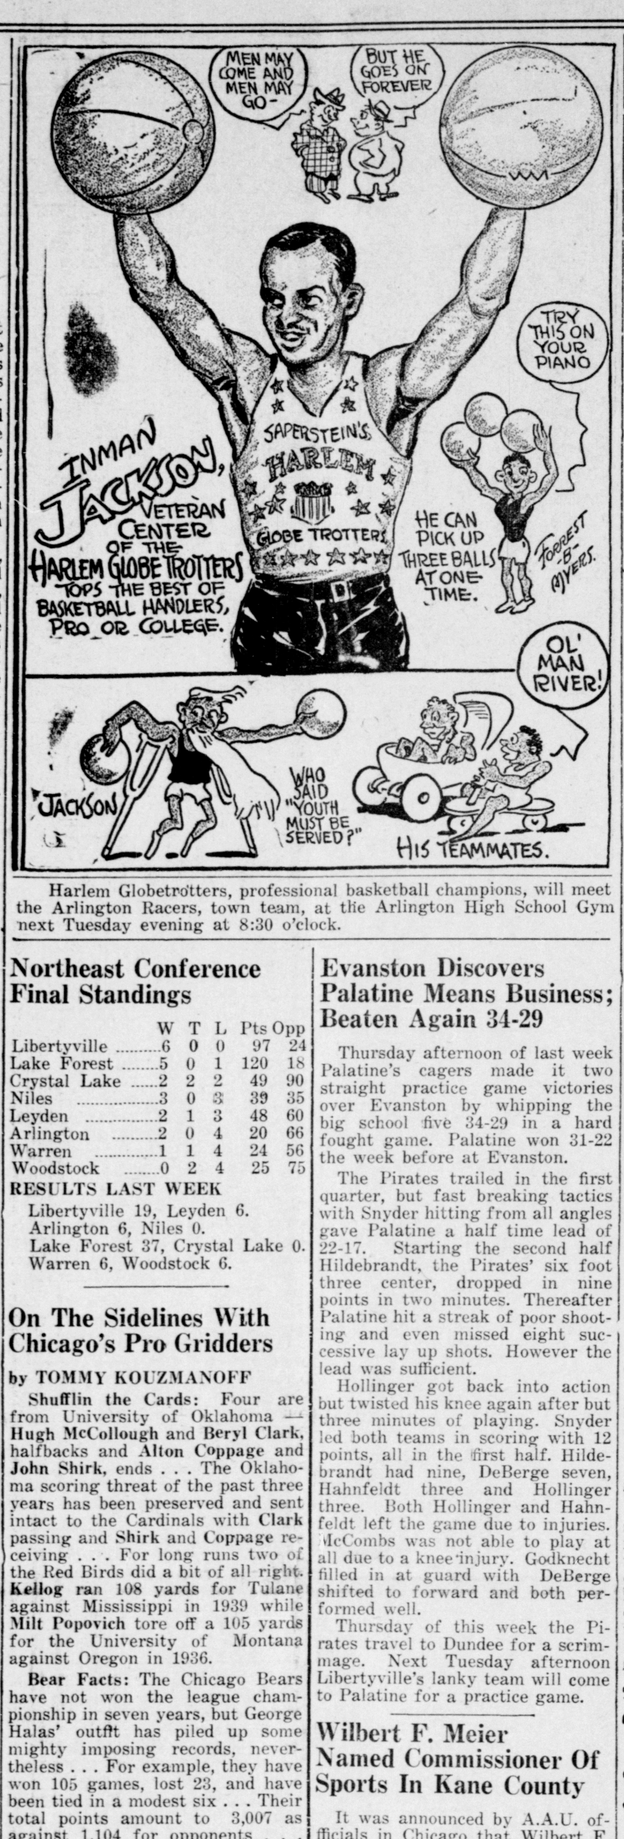

Two new students, Roy Goebbert and Richard Gieseke, are candidates for the team and will need extensive try-outs to determine their ability to fit smoothly into an outfit to which they have been strangers.

Arlington's prospects in the conference race cannot be estimated yet. Moreover, no practice games were scheduled and it will be difficult to get an accurate line on the team before the first league game on Nov. 29. It is possible only to say that there will be a quantity of material but that the quality is so far unknown.

Woodstock Ties Warren, 6 - 6

Woodstock outplayed Warren in the final game of the season, but had to score late in the game to gain a tie of 6-6. The Blue Streaks coached by Ken Zimmerman threatened repeatedly, once marching 85 yards without scoring. It was homecoming at Woodstock and the biggest crowd of the year paid tribute to a winless but fighting team.

Warren scored in the first period after intercepting a pass and marching 65 yards. Zelenko scored. Woodstock staged four long drives down the field and finally put over a touchdown in the last period on an end run by Joorfetz. Woodstock made 171 yards rushing and 34 by passing while Warren collected 126 by rushing and 25 by passes. Joorfetz averaged 40 yards on his punts while Wirth of Warren averaged 28.

Harlem Globetrotters, professional basketball champions, will meet the Arlington Racers, town team, at the Arlington High School Gym next Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Evanston Discovers Palatine Means Business; Beaten Again 34-29

Thursday afternoon of last week Palatine's cagers made it two straight practice game victories over Evanston by whipping the big school five 34-29 in a hard fought game. Palatine won 31-22 the week before at Evanston.

Hollinger got back into action but twisted his knee again after but three minutes of playing. Snyder led both teams in scoring with 12 points, all in the first half. Hildebrandt had nine, DeBerge seven, Hahnfeldt three and Hollinger three. Both Hollinger and Hahnfeldt left the game due to injuries. McCombs was not able to play at all due to a knee injury. Godknecht filled in at guard with DeBerge shifted to forward and both performed well.

Thursday of this week the Pirates travel to Dundee for a scrimmage. Next Tuesday afternoon Libertyville's lanky team will come to Palatine for a practice game.

Wilbert F. Meier Named Commissioner Of Sports In Kane County

It was announced by A.A.U. officials in Chicago that Wilbert F. Meier, son of William E. Meier, a former resident of Arlington Heights, has been chosen A.A.U. commissioner for Kane county to promote amateur sport in that county. Meier has been interested in the activities of Elgin sports since his arrival in Elgin three years ago. Since he is not able to take an active part in sports personally he enjoys having had something to do in its promotion. Besides his duty as commissioner he is at present secretary of the Elgin Chess and Checker club and secretary of the Watch City Horseshoe club. He is also manager of a real estate firm.

Cardinals Show Their Stuff At Homecoming; Defeat Niles, 6-0

Pirates Finish 6 Wins, 3 Defeats In Cross Country

Senn High School Of Chicago Beaten 36-21 Last Week

Palatine completed a highly successful cross country season last Friday when they beat Senn of Chicago 36-21 on the home grounds. The Pirate's record for the season was six victories and three defeats against schools of Chicago, the West Suburban, and the Suburban Leagues.

The Pirates won from Evanston, York of Elmhurst, Riverside, Wheaton, and Senn twice. The defeats were at the hands of Maine of Des Plaines, Crane Tech, and Lane Tech.

The letter winners for Palatine in the order of their records for the season are Langhoff, junior; Cipri, senior; Trepus, senior; Anderson, sophomore; Hooson, sophomore; Timmerhause, junior; and Field, junior. The Palatine team was at full strength for only three of the nine meets. Langhoff missed four meets and Cipri and Trepus each missed two due to bad colds.

Bronchos Tie Northbrook Into Game and Championship

Barrington Bronchos ran rough shod over Northbrook last Saturday in their game for the Northwest championship, but were lucky to get a 6-6 tie. The Bronchos tied the score with but two minutes of play remaining in the game though they had made 14 first downs to Northbrook's four.

Barrington marched from the opening kickoff down to the Northbrook 13 yard line where an intercepted pass stopped the threat. Clark's boys came right back, however, and traveled from their own 34 yard line to the Northbrook nine before the ball was lost on downs.

Early in the third period Northbrook gained the ball on their own 43 yard line and on the first play Wahl hit off tackle and flipped a lateral to Howard Strauss, who galloped 57 yards for a touchdown.

Barrington's third long march started late in the final period from their own 39 yard line. Zimmerman tossed a third down pass of 28 yards to Moeller and then later heaved a fourth down pass of 22 yards to the same receiver to set up the scoring situation. Stewart cut off tackle eight yards for the tying touchdown.

Arlington Scores In Last Period For Only Points

Arlington Heights Cardinal football squad salvaged some of its reputation last Saturday by winning their final game from Niles high 6-0. Arlington almost completely outplayed Niles from start to finish, but through their own errors postponed their ultimate victory until late in the last quarter. Only once did Niles really threaten to score and that attempt came at the very tag end of the game and threw a terrific scare into the Arlington team and crowd alike.

Whether it was the fact that the game was Arlington's homecoming, or that they were just determined to win this, their final game, the Cardinals fought as they had never before all season. For once the entire Arlington line was functioning and but for sporadic forays by Heiniger, stellar Niles back, the Niles high offense was bottled up all afternoon.

Arlington was constantly threatening to score. However, mistakes of one kind or another seemed to be the principal reasons for their failure to carry the ball over that last coveted white line. While Niles battled back gamely each time an Arlington offensive move was in the making, it was mainly through the Cardinals own miscues rather than Niles defensive tactics that Arlington failed to score much sooner.

The irony of the game came that all the Arlington offensive strength failed to get them over for a touchdown. It was only that the Cardinals capitalized on a Niles error of judgment in the final period that they were enabled to win. In this final period with only four minutes to go Niles elected to pass on fourth down on their 28 yard line instead of punting. They failed to complete it and the ball went over to Arlington.

In a last desperate effort Arlington went over in four downs. Morici hit right tackle for two yards, Mayer left tackle for two and Morici again at right tackle for 5 yards. Then Weber slanted off left tackle for 19 yards and the winning touchdown. It was quite fitting that the honor of this winning run should go to the hard fighting co-captain and right half back of the Cardinals.

It looked as though the Cards would score in the second period. A long pass, Mueller to Harth, put the ball on the 30 yard line as the first quarter ended. Morici and Mayer alternated to carry the ball to the Niles 8 yard line. A holding penalty of 15 yards set them back, then a fumble lost them the ball.

Shortly after the second half started Heiniger reeled off a 32 yard run inside Arlington's right end and went to the Arlington 30 yard line. Pass interference by Morici gave Niles a first down on the 17 yard line. Two runs and two attempted passes netted them a minus three yards and Arlington took over on the 20.

After Arlington's touchdown, Heiniger again got loose for twenty-five yards to Arlington 40 yard line. An 8 yard gain and an unnecessary roughness penalty put Arlington back on their 18 yard line. A ten yard plunge took Niles to the 8 yard line where Arlington stone walled them for four downs and took the ball on the 7 yard line. Two Cardinal plays later, the game ended.

The entire Arlington line played their best game of the season, but especial honor must go to Haugen and Dudley. These two were at their very best. The Arlington forwards were opening huge holes in the Niles line and it was only by some heroic backing up of the line by the Niles secondary that stopped Morici, Weber and Mayer. These three were hitting the Niles line for consistent gains, Morici particularly driving for a goodly total of yardage. Mayer for the most part was backing up the Arlington line in fine style.

Lucky Thief

A robber who walked into a bakery in Chicago and took $15 while a $2,000 payroll was being delivered to another bakery two doors away, was lucky at that. He met no resistance while grabbing the $15. He would have found an armed messenger and a policeman waiting for him if he had aimed at the higher stakes.

'Tom Brown's School Days' Depicts Initiation Of Honor System Into Schools

The temptations which beset youth are graphically revealed in RKO Radio's picturization of "Tom Brown's School Days," produced by Gene Towne and Graham Baker and coming to the Catlow Theatre for one day only, Saturday. Based on Thomas Hughes' well known novel, the story illustrates the oppression and disorder rampant in English public schools about a century ago until Dr. Thomas Arnold instituted the honor system, universally used in public schools since its introduction.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke portrays the noted educator, while other top featured spots are shared by Freddie Bartholomew, Jimmy Lydon, Josephine Hutchinson and Billy Halpp.

The adventure, romance and crackling action of the Old Southwest come to the screen under the masterful directorial touch of Sam Wood in "Rangers of Fortune," the Paramount picture, opening Sunday at the Catlow Theatre.

Famed for his handling of "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," and "Our Town," Wood succeeds in a totally different vein this time, telling the story of three gay and gusty knights of the sagebrush.

Fred MacMurray and Patricia Morison are romantically linked in lead roles, while Albert Dekker, Gilbert Roland, Joseph Schildkraut and Dick Foran play the leading featured roles.

A timely drama of youth, its hopes, fears and ambitions, comes to the Catlow Theatre Tuesday. The new film Columbia's "Military Academy," presents Tommy Kelly, of "Tom Sawyer" fame; Bobby "Dead End Kid" Jordan, Jackie Searl and David Holt in featured roles.

Turning the spotlight of motion picture publicity upon the modern generation and how they are trained for manhood, "Military Academy" has been hailed for its high entertainment qualities as well as its understandingly sympathetic treatment of "the awkward age" of American youth, that period in which the boy has not yet become a man.

Double featured on Tuesday with "Military Academy" is "Girl from Avenue A," with Jane Withers as a Bowery spitfire suddenly launched in ritzy Park Avenue—It's the Jane you love best . . . in her biggest and grandest picture. Featured supporting players include Kent Taylor, Katharine Aldridge, Elyse Knox, Laura Hope Crews, Jessie Ralph, Harry Shannon, Vaughan Glaser and Rand Brooks.

Raft, Sheridan, Lupino And Bogart Star In Action Hit

Plenty of laughs, excitement and romance are in store for Palatine audiences when Warner Bros.' new film, "They Drive By Night," is shown Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The cast includes an array of screen talent that is difficult to surpass. In the starring roles are George Raft, Ann Sheridan, Ida Lupino and Humphrey Bogart.

George Raft plays the part of a terse fellow who just wants to be able to get along without having to tangle with anyone—and that means women. He is not successful. Humphrey Bogart, in the role of his brother, would like to be able to appreciate his home and wife — to have some time he could call his own. Raft thinks that all that talk about home life is just so much nonsense until he meets and falls in love with a waitress, played by Ann Sheridan.

Irrepressible Martha Raye had to be repressed before Allan Jones could complete one of his romantic scenes with Rosemary Lane for "The Boys From Syracuse," coming also to the Palatine Theatre Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Jones was singing "Falling In Love With Love." Between rehearsals Miss Raye sat on the sidelines and in a near-perfect imitation of Jones' voice mimicked his rendition of the song.

Both Jones and Miss Lane joined the entire company in laughter which ended only after director A. Edward Sutherland ejected Miss Raye from the set, until the scene was completed.

Portentous in its timeliness, "Four Sons" comes to the Palatine Theatre Friday and Saturday. The 20th Century-Fox picture features Don Ameche, Eugenie Leontovich, Mary Beth Hughes, Alan Curtis and many others, and has been called one of the most stirring pictures of recent years.

Don't See Red

Most nocturnal birds are relatively color-blind to reds, and on the other hand, most birds that are active during daytime do not see blue very well, reports the Better Vision Institute. If a mixture of gray and blue grains are fed to chickens, the blue grains will be ignored until the gray kernels have been picked up. Feeding experiments with night birds have indicated that they cannot see reds very easily.

Stock Exchange Seat

The value of a New York Stock Exchange seat reached the lowest price since 1915, on May 28, 1940, when it "sold" for $42,000. The highest price on record was $70,000 in 1939.
